NEBRASKA SPELLS "SPORTSMANSHIP"

The University of Nebraska is known and respected all over the nation for its red-attired fans, as well as its football teams.

Nebraska fans also have a nationwide reputation for good sportsmanship, at home and away.

"Big League"—that's the way Nebraska teams and fans have acquitted themselves in past seasons, and that's the same goal for 1983.

The University of Nebraska urges all 1983 fans to continue this fine tradition of sportsmanship by extending courtesy to the visiting teams and officials.

All of us on the Cornhusker Staff salute our fans as the greatest in the nation and thank you for your support and sportsmanship.

Yours for Nebraska,

Bob Devaney

Archer to Test Husker Defense

Nebraska's bend-but-not break defense, which ranks 39th in the nation in total defense, but 16th in scoring defense, figures to get its stiffest aerial test to this point in the season this afternoon against Iowa State and Cyclone quarterback David Archer.

Archer, a 6-2, 200-pound senior from Soda Springs, Idaho, leads the Big Eight in passing yards this week with 1,839, or 229.9 yards per game, and he has the league's top two receivers to whom to throw—flanker Tracy Henderson and fullback Jason Jacobs.

Henderson comes into the game leading the Big Eight and ranking sixth nationally in receiving with 6.6 receptions per game for a total of 733 yards and six touchdowns. Jacobs, meanwhile, ranks second in the Big Eight in receiving with 5.2 catches per contest for 338 total yards and three touchdowns.

Against that attack, the Huskers will put up a defense that has given up 13.7 points and 338.3 total yards per game, but ranks seventh in the Big Eight in pass defense at 197.1 yards per game. Led by linebacker Mike Knox and safety Bret Clark, though, Nebraska has intercepted 17 passes this season. Knox and Clark have four each, and Knox's four represent the most for a Husker linebacker since Bob Terrio picked off five for the 1971 national championship team.

That adds up to an interesting matchup when Iowa State has the ball this afternoon—and to a tough challenge for the Husker defense. But Iowa State's defense may have the tougher challenge in trying to stop Nebraska's high-powered attack.

Led by I-back Mike Rozier, the Huskers again lead the nation in rushing offense (384.6 yards per game) and scoring offense (50.8 points per game), and rank second nationally in total offense (532.1 yards).

In last week's 51-25 win at Kansas State, Rozier posted his first 200-yard-plus day of the season, gaining 227 yards and scoring three touchdowns on 23 carries. The yardage moved him back into the national rushing lead at 160.7 yards per game and kept him on top in both scoring (13.3 points per game) and touchdowns (2.2 per game).

The performance moved him from fourth up to second in Big Eight career rushing as he passed Oklahoma's Steve Owens (3,867) and Joe Washington (3,995). With 4,078 career yards, he needs 505 in his last three games (168.3 per game) to pass Oklahoma State's Terry Miller (4,582) and become the Big Eight's career rushing leader. He's also the No. 15 career rusher in college football history.

Mike comes into today's game with 43 career touchdowns for 258 points, two touchdowns and 12 points short of the Nebraska records of 45 and 270 set by 1972 Heisman Trophy winner Johnny Rodgers from 1970-1972.

That center on the corner...

Next time you are on the campus, drive, walk, or jog your way to 16th & "R".

The construction activity you see is the Wick Alumni Center. It will soon be yours to relax in whether you are in for a game, a meeting, a seminar or what have you.

The Wick Center will house all of the University's Lincoln Campus Alumni organizations, the central meeting place for all those (and their legions are legion) who volunteer their time and efforts for the University beyond Lincoln. The Wick Center will be used by the alumni of Nebraska, over 125,000 strong. And you run the Alumni Association — through the officers elected, by the projects you join in on, by the questions you raise, by the suggestions you make. Every great University grows and stays great to the degree that its alumni believe in it, keep in touch, keep it first rate. Not just by the money they raise (although money is on everyone's mind) but by the good word and good works they spread. Whether you are the Class of '33 or a brand new '83 model, keep the Alumni Association in mind. Keep the Wick Center on your itinerary, too. It will be your home on campus — and a beautiful one.

The University of Nebraska-Lincoln Alumni Association.

Chancellor's Club

The Chancellor's Club is a distinguished group which recognizes the importance of private gift support to the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. Membership is open to major donors.

Chancellor Martin Massengale

Today marks a very special day in the life of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Earlier today dedication ceremonies were held for the new Sherman S. Welpton Courtroom at the College of Law.

When the new College of Law was constructed in 1975, no funds were available for the construction of a courtroom facility. Construction of the new facility was only made possible through the tireless efforts of Mr. Sherman Welpton, working with the University of Nebraska Foundation. Mr. Welpton is a 1931 UNL graduate and prominent California attorney.

Mr. Welpton's foresight and commitment encouraged construction of the new facility.

The new courtroom will enable current and future UNL law students to gain important experience in clinical settings, to observe and monitor the works of actual court sessions scheduled in the facility, and to add new realism to their preparation for trial practice.

We are grateful to Mr. Welpton and to the many UNL alumni whose private gifts have helped build the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. Private contributions such as these add to the quality of our University and to the quality of education for all Nebraskans.

PONTIAC 6000 STE

This is the Pontiac with more technologically advanced features than any other. And the future of American luxury performance sedans. As the 2.8 liter high output V-6 sparks to life and the graphic instrumentation lights up, you gain a precise driver's sense of control over your environment.

You are truly in touch with your car. And the STE's Driver Information Center is helping to put you there. Important engine functions—lamp operation, door, hood and trunk security—even service reminders—can all be monitored from the driver's seat.

With a simple touch of your finger you can adjust the climate of your driver environment. It's easy with the STE's new climate control center which uses advanced electronics and light-emitting diode indicators.

Now notice the seat you're in. It's big, mechanically engineered for serious drivers, and conforms to your individual driving position through six areas of adjustment. The STE seat also features thigh and lumbar support, and a concave shape to help keep you comfortable while you take the curves with precision.

When you cut a particularly tight corner, you won't be thinking about the self-leveling Electronic Ride Control. The exclusive "pore-free" cast aluminum wheels. Or the Goodyear Eagle GT high performance radials with analytically tuned shock absorbers, springs, bushings, front and rear stabilizer bars and power rack and pinion steering. Or how these components perform harmoniously as one system. You'll just be amazed at how the responsive Pontiac 6000 STE suspension works as an extension of yourself.

If you're used to traditional luxury sedans, we think you'll find this experience refreshing. And very exciting.

Some Pontiacs are equipped with engines produced by other GM divisions, subsidiaries, or affiliated companies worldwide. See your Pontiac dealer for details.

DOUBLE COVERAGE

by Ron Reid
Philadelphia Inquirer

By now it has become as common an occurrence of the competitive autumn as a change in the Top 10 rankings. The product of intelligent, tactical coaching, it may be the one facet of collegiate football most often overlooked by those who equate victory with blatant mismatches in physical skill.

It occurs when a defense armed with semi-swift cornerbacks, a lumbering linebacker or two, and a pair of ubiquitous safeties defies everyone's stopwatch numbers and shuts down some wide receiver with after-burners where his legs ought to be.

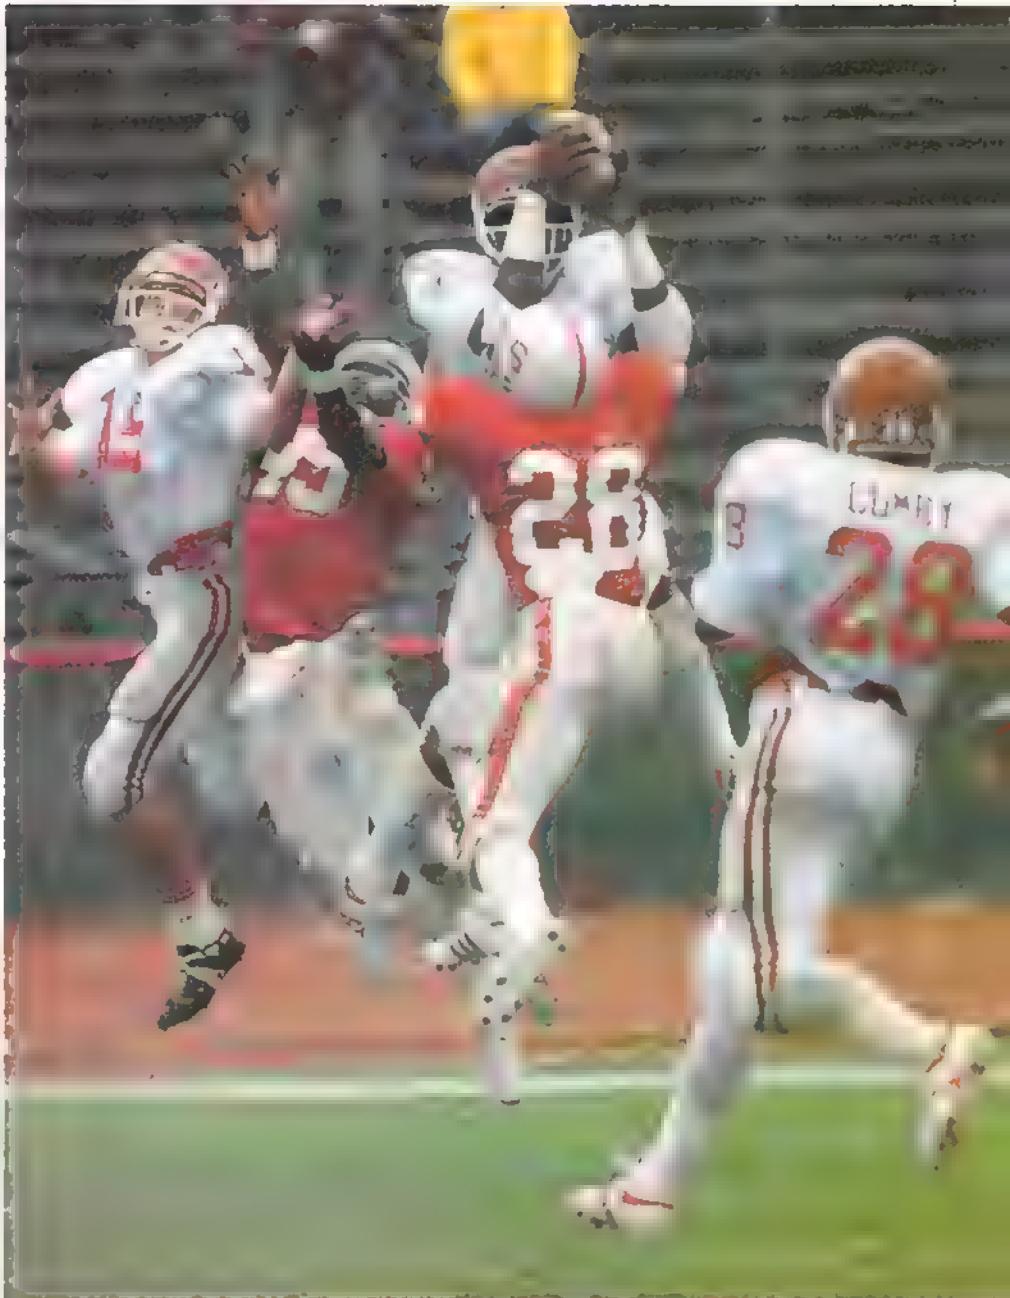

Speed, of course, is still a prime requisite for pass receivers, and it is no great revelation to say that most coaches would rather have fast athletes than slow ones. But through skillful deployment of the defensive troops—that unity of effort called coordination—it is possible to take speed out of the game by turning off the burner, so to speak.

Many a fine receiver has been victimized by a successful demonstration of double coverage, the strategic plan coaches often resort to when the opposition includes an uncommonly swift pass receiver.

As the term implies, double coverage is a maneuver executed by two defenders on a single receiver, and its success depends on great harmony of effort and timing. Double coverage is inevitably dictated by talent—both of the receiver and the athletes available to cover him—and is usually carried out by an outside linebacker and a cornerback, a linebacker and a free safety, or a cornerback and a safety—though the variations may seem endless.

Consider one ideal example: The receiver sprints off the line of scrimmage in the company of an outside linebacker whose assignment it is to stay within tackling range through the first 12-15 yards of the pass route. Almost at the moment the receiver is about to leave the LB gasping on the turf, the battle is joined by the defensive back, who carries out the coverage from 15 yards onward.

Or, as may be more memorably observed: The receiver moves into his route with a cornerback matching him stride for stride. A few moments later, moving on the quarterback's throw or a break in the route, one of the safeties quickly moves into the play either to break up the pass, go for the ball or make the tackle before too much yardage is lost.

Successful, down-after-down repetition of double coverage, especially when it is matched with a sustained pass rush, can mean a long afternoon for the fastest wide receiver and, in due course, an equally frustrated quarterback forced to throw to other targets.

A rising young assistant coach who tutors defensive backs for an eastern power explains: "If you're facing a particularly skilled wide receiver, a kid who's got the ability to break it, you want to take him out of their offense, and make him beat you left-handed."

A defense so instructed then may double-cover the receiver in a variety of ways, the length and breadth of the field.

"It's multi-faceted," says the assistant coach. "You might double him long and short—bracket him all up the field—or inside and out. Your (defensive) method is determined by the total defense, whether you're stunting up front and getting some pressure on the passer. Whatever you do has to be coordinated with the rest of the defense."

But for those who must carry it out, double coverage can be a harsh athletic task despite two men on the job.

"It's really a tough assignment for the linebacker," an eastern head coach says with discernable sympathy in his voice. "He's got to try to keep up with the receiver (who is probably 40 pounds lighter), and who's to say the offense won't run or throw an option at him?"

No matter how dramatically effective double coverage may be, it is a defensive scheme most coaches would rather not have to use. For in the deployment of two defenders to a single receiver, the attacking team gains a 10-on-9 manpower advantage. The defense that tries to double cover both wide receivers obviously suffers an even greater deficit, if not the kind of numbers game that can produce the wrong kind of numbers on the scoreboard.

"The team that doubles up on one part of the offense," says a veteran West Coast coach, "is going to have to sacrifice something to the rest. You can't do it without leaving a hole somewhere."

For that very reason, a football team's most effective receiver probably should be determined by the type of coverage he demands, rather than by his receptions and receiving yardage. The pass catcher most often tagged a "decoy," one who burdens a defense by taking two players out of the scheme of things, is an undeniable weapon whether he catches a pass or not.

"That's what makes it worrisome," says the eastern head coach. "You've got to make sure when you're covering their fast guy with two of yours that they don't have someone else pop free."

"Double coverage is a defense most coaches would rather not play. You'd rather hope you've got the personnel capable of going one-on-one with everybody you play."

Even so, the occasions of double coverage have increased, along with such tactical phenomena as the fifth (nickel) and sixth (dime) defensive back. Such coverages have been brought about by college football's increasing affection for, and sophisticated use of, the forward pass.

And as might be expected, the offense has responded in kind. Reacting to double coverage, the attacking team can make the defense work even harder by aligning its speedster to the tight end side of the line of scrimmage.

"It's easier to double cover a split receiver," the head coach says. "It's much harder against a flanker with a tight end on the same side, especially if the tight end is a good blocker. The flanker gets into the pattern quicker."

Other offensive retaliation includes three wide receivers in the formation, usually as the tactical response to what one head coach calls, "maximum coverage—where they rush three (players) and cover with eight. That doesn't leave too many areas of the field undefended, and it's pretty tough to pump the ball in there."

What it all reflects, of course, is a dynamic continuum—the offensive ebb and defensive flow of collegiate football. Out of the constant struggle between tacticians devoted to moving the ball and strategists determined to stop it, come the trends and the drama that continue to fascinate us from one hopeful autumn to the next.

THE SCOUT TEAM

IMPERSONATING THE OPPONENT

by Orville Henry, Sports Editor,
Arkansas Gazette

We're going to take the littlest player on our scout team, wire him to an outboard motor, and put him on skates. That's the only way we can give our defense a true look at Greg Pruitt this week."

"How could we prepare for Earl Campbell? Our scout team fullback weighs 194 and he's fat."

"We just moved the ball up and down the practice field. Yards in gobs. And then we had to go against their defense with all those 4.7 players. Our scout team players are all 5.7s."

"John Elway presents us a problem. We got our scout team quarterback off the softball squad. We're going to borrow the Dodgers' Iron Mike for our secondary to work against this week."

"We put a No. 87 on one of our scout team guys, and our tight end and tackle wiped him out every time. Then they put Billy Ray Smith in the same jersey and he breezed through us for six quarterback sacks."

Those samplings from head coaches' press conferences, not always in jest, illustrate the problem.

Each college football team sees an opponent once a year. That opponent tends to include one-third or more new players each year, at least in its starting personnel. That opponent may, probably will, use schemes and systems totally different from those of the previous opponent—different from any opponent anywhere. Each opponent's star (or stars) will be unique, totally unlike any other.

Pity the poor scout team coach, much less the unheralded B teamers, jayvees, freshmen, redshirts (or whatever else they may be called) who must seek to impersonate the next opponent.

And yet, many a head coach has turned with pride on a Sunday to give that same song blaring from loudspeakers)

Once upon a time, the top programs in college football had a well-defined freshman program (35 to 60 playing a schedule under a freshman coaching staff) and a well-defined B team program.

During John Vaught's heyday, his Mississippi freshman team would be redgram depends heavily on willing walk-ons and redshirts (who now can be freshmen, under a newly enacted NCAA rule).

"If there is one unheralded thing I think is important to an overall program, it's a good scout squad, and this is the hardest thing in the world to develop," says a successful head coach.

The first team defense takes a look at a play run by a scout team quarterback.

Mostly, though, the graduate assistants or "volunteer" coaches who spend part of the previous week and then Sunday morning cutting and splicing the film and drawing up the scouting report take responsibility.

While the varsity players run the kinks out for a few minutes Sunday afternoon and view Saturday's film, the scout teamers (including one unit for offense, one for defense) pick up the plays they will be running during the week against the first and second teamers.

In rare cases, they'll be outfitted with numbers and jersey colors as worn by the opponent (and, all week, will do their stuff to the tune of the other team's fight shirted en masse, routinely, becoming the B team, or scout team).

The varsity football would be played by a very few third-year men and, mostly, fourth and fifth-year players.

And the scout team would be made up of talented futures, held back only by inexperience—as compared to the seasoned people ahead of them on the same squad.

Nowadays, freshmen are eligible to play immediately, and no one maintains a freshman program as such. Because of the limitation of 30 scholarship freshmen per year and 95 overall (some conferences, such as the Pac-10, permit 90, and others, even less), the scout team pro-some way, make them feel part of the team. So we post depth charts. We dress out the first two varsity units for games, then the first team scout squads. We put the best of the scout teamers into the kicking units. This helps morale."

A scout teamer's life is not an easy one.

The better players are redshirts, good athletes trading a year of immaturity for what likely will be a standout final season, and getting an extra year's classwork toward a degree.

Every good athlete hates his redshirt year while it is happening, but looks back on it gratefully when he is enjoying a triumphant final season.

"The scout teamer has to report early for the kicking game we work on before practice, and then sometimes stay late for the kicking phases we do afterwards," says a head coach.

He points out the negatives.

"It's easy for a scout teamer to get into bad habits.

"An offensive lineman might just slop around, step with the wrong foot, just move out rather than fire out. A receiver might make a poor effort in traffic. A quarterback might look at one receiver all the way, rather than read the defense, the way he always should. He might throw it into a crowd, which he should never do, and which doesn't help our defense.

"The best scout team quarterback we ever had spent a year getting eligible after transferring. The habits he developed carried him to All-Southwest honors two years later, and us to a co-championship."

If seniors will, they can set a tempo and patterns that will maximize the contributions of the scout team and make for outstanding practices.

In baseball, there are hitters who want a batting practice pitcher to throw every pitch over the plate, so that he can make contact every time, groove his move. On the other hand, top hitters know their weaknesses, or at least what they will see most of from the pitcher they are about to face, and will ask the BP chunker to put the ball in a certain place, or to follow a pattern of in-and-out, etc., that he will see in a game.

"Some first teamers don't want it the hard way in practice," said a head coach. "They might tap the scout teamer between the plays and say, 'Hey, this isn't Saturday,' or something like that. A tall guy might not want a scout teamer scrambling in his running gear, but that's what a tall guy is going to run into."

"We had one player who would say, 'Whoa, that's not the 'look' I want. Fire at me low, like so-and-so will do Saturday.'

"This type of thing by your seniors makes you a better team on Saturday and keeps the program on a high level the year 'round."

"We do everything to get our scout teamers to show ingredients of team play, to carry out their roles, to give us the good 2.1 seconds it takes on most plays they run. And we honor the two 'Scout Teamers of the Week' throughout the year."

If they're just cannon fodder, the program is zilch, or headed that way. If they're viewed as part of a winning effort, they graduate into winners.

BACKFIELD SHIFTS

by Gus Schrader, Cedar Rapids Gazette

When he coached at Michigan State, Duffy Daugherty used to snort every time he heard anyone describe football as a "contact" sport.

"Dancing is a contact sport," he would explain. "Football is a COLLISION sport."

Things have changed a little since then. Dancing doesn't include as much contact since rock-and-roll encouraged dancers to ad lib more on their own. Football still features plenty of collisions, but if Duffy thought it was violent then, imagine what it would be today if our sensible ancestors hadn't started enacting rules banning backs-in-motion as early as 1896.

Dave Nelson, University of Delaware athletic director and chairman of the NCAA Football Rules Committee, calls that rule one of the most important in football history.

"I know Canadian pro football still permits a back to be in motion toward the line of scrimmage when the ball is snapped," he said, "but can you imagine what kind of collisions we would have in college football today if a team could put a 280-pound tackle at fullback, let him start running full speed toward the line of scrimmage and hand him the ball just before he got there? With the speed and size of today's football players, we could expect a great increase in the number of injuries."

"The 1896 rule change specified that only one man could be in motion when the ball was snapped, and he could not be moving toward the line of scrimmage. Without that rule, we would have flying wedges, revolving tandems and all sorts of dangerous shifts and formations."

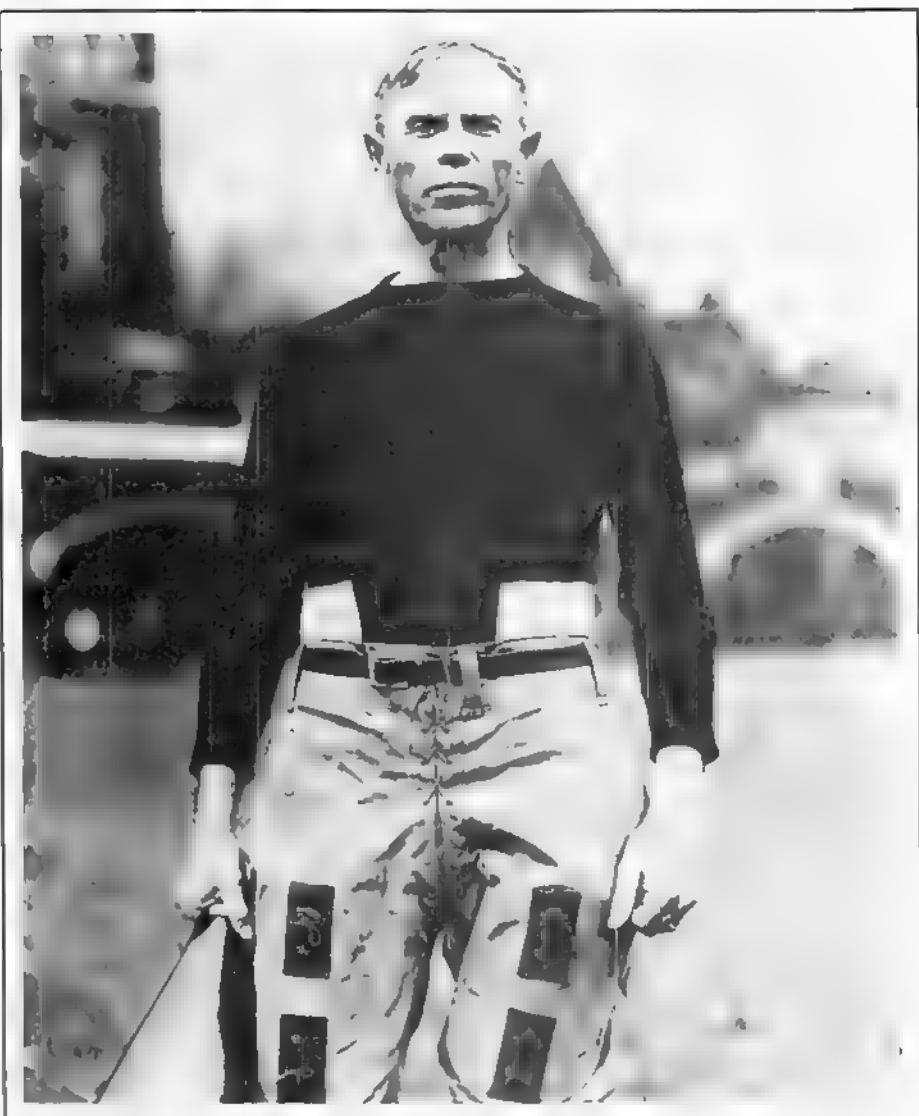

Have you ever wondered about offensive backfield shifts? Why are various backs and flankers jumping around just before the ball is snapped? Are they having trouble finding the spot the coaches specified? Is the quarterback changing his signals to confuse the defense? When did backfield shifts start, and what is their purpose?

Among those who have written about shifts was John W. Heisman, after whom college football's most coveted trophy is named. Heisman coached successfully at Georgia Tech and Penn. His writings reveal that he was in many ways an unusual man. Indeed, among the things he preached to his players was to avoid taking showers—especially hot showers—as he said this tended to debilitate an athlete. Not many of Heisman's players got invited to sorority dances after their games.

"It is clear that the men should all be moved simultaneously and with as great speed as possible," Heisman wrote in a 1922 book that discussed shifts, "and after such preliminary move has been executed and completed that the ball shall be put in play immediately, else the defense will be able to shift reinforcements to the threatened spot in time to nullify the advantage gained by the offense in a preconcerted and well executed shift."

Heisman and Doc Williams, of Minnesota, were among the first to really exploit the shift. Later Knute Rockne developed the famous "Notre Dame Shift" so well that it helped his last two teams to go unbeaten in 1929 and '30. Rockne was killed in a plane crash the following summer.

Nelson lists the following seasons as ones in which important rule changes were made regarding shifts.

1896—The rule limiting one man in motion.

1914—It became illegal to shift through the neutral zone.

1922—A full stop—a standstill—was ordered after a shift.

1924—Absolute stop—no movement.

1927—Full-second stop

1942—It became a foul to draw a charge with a false start on a shift.

1954—Sucker shifts were prohibited by the American Football Coaches Association. These simulated the start of a play, causing the defense to jump offside.

1983—The sucker shift is back. Some teams are employing it in shifts in or out of punt formation.

The primary purpose of the backfield shift, of course, is to move one or more backs to positions other than those where they originally lined up. It provides strength at an unexpected spot, giving the defense fresh problems of handling the deception and momentum. However, a shift may not simulate the start of a play.

Some coaches feel that using shifts is a matter of necessity for teams whose players aren't as good as the opposition.

"My staff and I have had to come up with ways to trick the defenses, to shift backs quickly to concentrate our strengths on unexpected places," said a major college coach. "I don't think we could have achieved much offensively without widespread use of shifts."

In explaining what his offense does with the shift, the coach continued:

"We are going to force our opponents to defend the entire width of the football field by spreading our offensive formations. We are going to utilize five eligible receivers on pass plays, and sometimes six when the quarterback is a receiver. Everyone on the team is a potential ball-carrier for running plays. Our passing attack utilizes option-type pass routes dictated by defensive alignment and movement.

"... We try to minimize the defensive possibilities by utilizing formations, movement and motion on offense. Our audible system is very helpful in eliminating bad plays and assisting our quarterback in maintaining the consistency to move the football. We are truly a multiple-offense team."

What's an audible? That's when the quarterback notices something in the other team's defense that wasn't apparent when the play was called originally in the huddle. So he audibly calls out coded information to change the signal to something with a better chance of working. That's another reason you may see offensive backs jumping to new positions just before the ball is snapped.

One successful offensive coordinator lists these 11 reasons for using shifts:

1. To create defensive adjustments which best allow execution of the most basic phases of an offense.
2. To dictate (by formation, motion or shifting) defensive alignments and coverages
3. To force opponents into a balanced and base defense
4. To force additional and lengthy weekly preparation by opponents on alignments and adjustments, leaving them less time to spend in repetition and execution

5. To limit defensive pressure.
 6. To break defensive concentration
 7. To create defensive confusion and communication problems by defensive signal callers.

8. To break set tendency keys.
 9. To eliminate bump-and-run or double coverage on wide receivers

10. To eliminate flip-flopping of defensive personnel, often creating a player mismatch.

11. To provide an exciting style of play for both players and fans.

Notre Dame's Knute Rockne had some sound advice for using the shift. You might say one of his recommendations was "get there firstest with the mostest," and the other was the now-famous KISS system (Keep It Simple, Stupid). Anyway, the Rock wrote this way about the two ideas:

"The idea of the shift is to attempt to get more men of the offense to a given spot than the defense can muster in the short time allotted it. The essence of offense is to get there first with the most men; the shift is a big adjunct to this."

"It is best to keep your shift formations just as simple as possible. It is possible, of course, to work up complex offensive shifts, but as a rule the coach using these spends so much time practicing the shift that his team is weak on tackling and blocking, and is beaten because of these weaknesses. And besides, in these days of intensive scouting, we cannot fool the defensive team as we would like to."

One wonders what Rockne would add to that if he were alive now.

One also can speculate what college football would be like today if backfield shifts weren't limited by rule, and if there were no restrictions against backs-in-motion (outlawed by that 1896 rule).

Almost certainly there would have been strong cries for eliminating the game completely—even stronger than there were in 1905, when 18 players died and 159 more were seriously injured because of football. That was when President Wheeler of the University of California sent a telegram to football officials: "The game of football must be entirely made over or go."

It also was the time when U.S. President Teddy Roosevelt, in mid-season, called representatives of Yale, Harvard and Princeton to the White House and told them it was up to them to save the sport by removing every objectionable feature.

"Brutality and foul play should receive the same summary punishment given to the man who cheats at cards," President Roosevelt said.

So down with brutality and foul play, and up with the deception and finesse provided by such things as shifts!

Notre Dame's Knute Rockne felt that shift formations should be kept as simple as possible.

HOW COACHES GRADE THEIR PLAYERS

by Richard Hoffer
Los Angeles Times

A player's Saturday performance is carefully graded during the Sunday afternoon game film screening.

The classroom, it turns out, isn't the only place on campus where the college football player struggles for grades. He struggles as well in the coach's darkened screening room, where his flickering image is evaluated in reverse, forward, slow motion and stop action. Over and over.

This is where the real passing game—as in playing for a passing grade—is played. This is where there's a final exam every Sunday, in a weekend curriculum considerably more physical than the player's more traditional classroom schedule.

This is where, each Sunday afternoon, a battery of coaches sits, pencils poised, to evaluate each player's performance from Saturday's game. The grading is thorough and complicated. Also varied. Some coaches use a plus-minus system, others use complex schemes that award points in several categories on each play. Still others grade a player just like the classroom professor—70 percent is passing, 80 percent is a B, etc.

At stake, however, is not academic eligibility, as it might be in the classroom. At stake here, in a way, is each player's athletic eligibility; players, on the basis of their grades, can get promoted into the starting lineup or demoted out of it. A player left off the coach's dean's list after a Sunday grading session is quite often left off the coach's starting lineup as well.

But the evaluation of personnel is just one use that coaches make of their Sunday afternoon grading sessions. Just as in the academic portion of the player's education, the grades handed out Monday morning (not literally; there are no report cards here) are used to both teach and motivate. "It's not so different from the classroom," one West Coast coach says. "It's supposed to be a teaching atmosphere in football, too. This is just another tool."

The idea of grading players, like so many ideas in football, reportedly originated with Paul Brown, Cleveland Browns' coach. Coaches, always looking for an edge, quickly copied the idea. This game is too competitive not to examine every possible advantage. Soon not only the rest of the NFL coaches were grading their players, but college coaches, too, were evaluating game performances. And soon after that high school coaches were posting grades outside the players' locker room.

Although the coaches may have taken up the practice out of fear—the fear that their rivals were doing something they weren't—they soon recognized the advantages in postgame examinations. In screening rooms across the country coaches were discovering that what they thought they saw Saturday afternoon bore little or no resemblance to the actual game. "And I thought he had a sensational game," they were heard to mutter, the film showing the missed block, the blown coverage, the loaf on the field opposite the action.

"A coach is easily fooled on the sidelines," says a West Coast coach. "There are big play people and systems people and when you're watching the action at their level, with the emotion of the game all around you, it's easy to imagine the big play people are the ones having the great game."

The films and the grading often show otherwise. "We had a defensive back, a flamboyant player if there ever was one," remembers the coach. "He made two big interceptions in our most important game and we thought he had a terrific game, even if we did lose. When we graded him out, it turned out he blew coverages on two plays—both touchdowns over him. In the same game we all had the impression on the field that the other defensive back was really letting us down. But he graded out well on Sunday. He was playing within the system, in addition to trying to cover up for the other guy."

The grades offer the opportunity for self-correction to these coaches. An assistant coach says, "When you're coaching your own guy, you sometimes get a little protective. You want him to look good. And then the head coach comes and says, 'Hey, your guy's not playing too well.' You tell him he is. And then we go to the grades and there's the hard reality."

But even grades, the hard numbers, can fool you. Although the coaches put more faith in their Sunday afternoon grades than their Saturday afternoon gut feelings, they know too that the grading is very subjective. Just because something can be reduced to statistics, that doesn't mean it's objective.

"It's very subjective," a coach says. "After all, there's no way to quantify everything absolutely." There are many ingredients in a play that just can't be assigned a number. Courage, determination—there's a reason they're called intangibles. But even beyond that, it's ex-good player? "When you've got two All-America linemen opposite each other, it's impossible to grade them," he says. "The offensive coach might grade his player out at 60 percent. And yet the defensive coach might also grade his out at 60 percent. Very subjective."

However, some organizations, the ones that recognize just how subjective this grading can be, have even gone so far as to try to quantify the subjectivity. When pro scouts come in to evaluate a player, that scout's previous grading is taken into consideration. Does he grade high, low? His final tally is multiplied by a factor of his subjectivity. Football may be a game of inches to some people; to the coaches, it's a game of numbers.

A lot of football, though, can be boiled down to numbers. A lot of the plays can be graded conclusively. Some coaches simply grade out the players on the basis of their assignments. Did he carry it out or attempt it? Or did he try to block the wrong man? It's a simple pass/fail every vice versa.'

Sometimes the individual scores are posted but most often they are not. Rather, the coach will announce them during the screening with the assembled team. Either way, the coach is counting on a little peer pressure.

Other times the coaches post the scores for an entire unit, the defensive line, the offensive backfield.

There are still other systems of grading, systems so complicated the grades couldn't be posted anywhere but the halls of the Library of Congress. A coach, in addition to grading for technique and assignment, might also decide to grade the player's effort. He may give pluses and minuses for such a quality.

And, of course, different positions are graded differently. An offensive tackle might only be considered in terms of assignment, technique and effort. But a quarterback is graded on everything from getting his team out of the huddle, to handoff execution, to his reading of the defense. He is not graded according to the completion for each throw. Rather, he may be graded according to whether he completes a certain percentage of them—60 percent is success, 59 percent is failure in that category.

And running backs are also difficult to grade, especially since they are so dependent on their linemen for their yardage. They have to complete their assignment, perform with good technique and, in addition, try to reach an arbitrary goal, say four yards.

Some coaches get even more involved with the grading. During the screening with the team, a coach may end up giving not just grades, but bonus points or rewards for a fumble recovery or a big play. Sometimes these sessions sound like an end of the season banquet. Or maybe an end of the career roast.

"It all depends on your emphasis," the coach says. "You may be using the grades to keep track of a certain player, whether he's loafing or not playing, according to your scheme. Is he popping up on certain plays because he's doing something extremely well or because the scheme dictates that? You may be using the grades to motivate. If one player grades out at 55 percent, and you're getting by with him, well, it may not be because he's getting beat but just that he hasn't been in with anybody. Is he an underachiever who just makes the big play? A low grade may motivate him. Or you may be using them to see where one player is in relation to another."

The coach goes on. "The other thing grades give a coach," he says, chuckling, "is some more figures to work with. Where would we be without our numbers?"

A coach may grade a player on both technique and effort.

tremely difficult for any two coaches to decide on whether a player completed his assignment successfully or not.

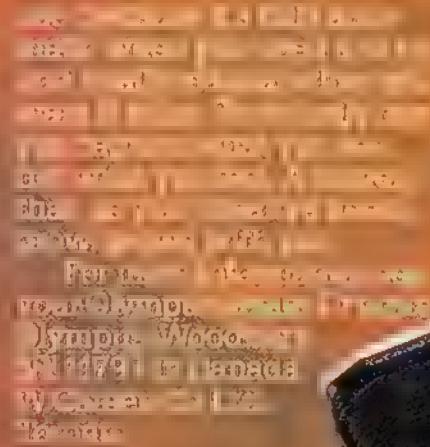

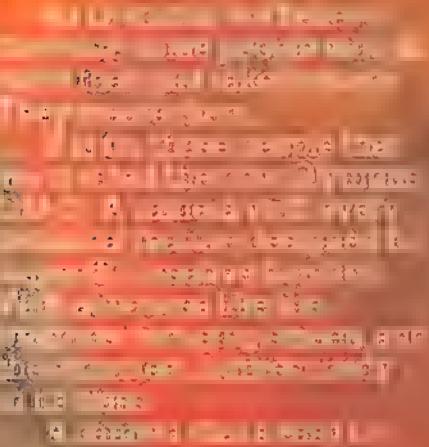

How do you grade a pass rusher, for example? You might say he completed his play successfully only if he tackled the quarterback before he unloaded the ball. But what if he pressured him into throwing a bad pass? What if he simply pressured him, regardless of the pass the quarterback got off? And how do you grade a really good player who happens to be lining up across from another really play in that system and it's easy to come up with a number. Some coaches factor in technique. Was his technique good or bad on each play? "So a guy's in 30 plays," the coach explains, "and his technique is right 24 times, that's 80 percent. If he gets the assignment right 29 times, that's a .96. That way we can tell if he's doing what he should within the system. Also, if a guy grades out a winner in technique, but grades lower in assignments, well, that tells us he's not concentrating. He's doing enough physically, but not mentally. And by Bob Hammel,

Bloomington Herald-Telephone

Football strategies get so intricate the man in the stands can't begin to follow them. An off-tackle run, the most basic of plays, can be diagrammed by coaches a dozen different ways with complicated blocking schemes that force equal variety in the defense attacking it.

In the stands, it still looks like an off-tackle play.

All those interior plays—fundamental to offensive performance and crucial when short yardage must be pried out on third or fourth down or at the goal line—are accepted in the bleachers as the meat and potatoes of the sport.

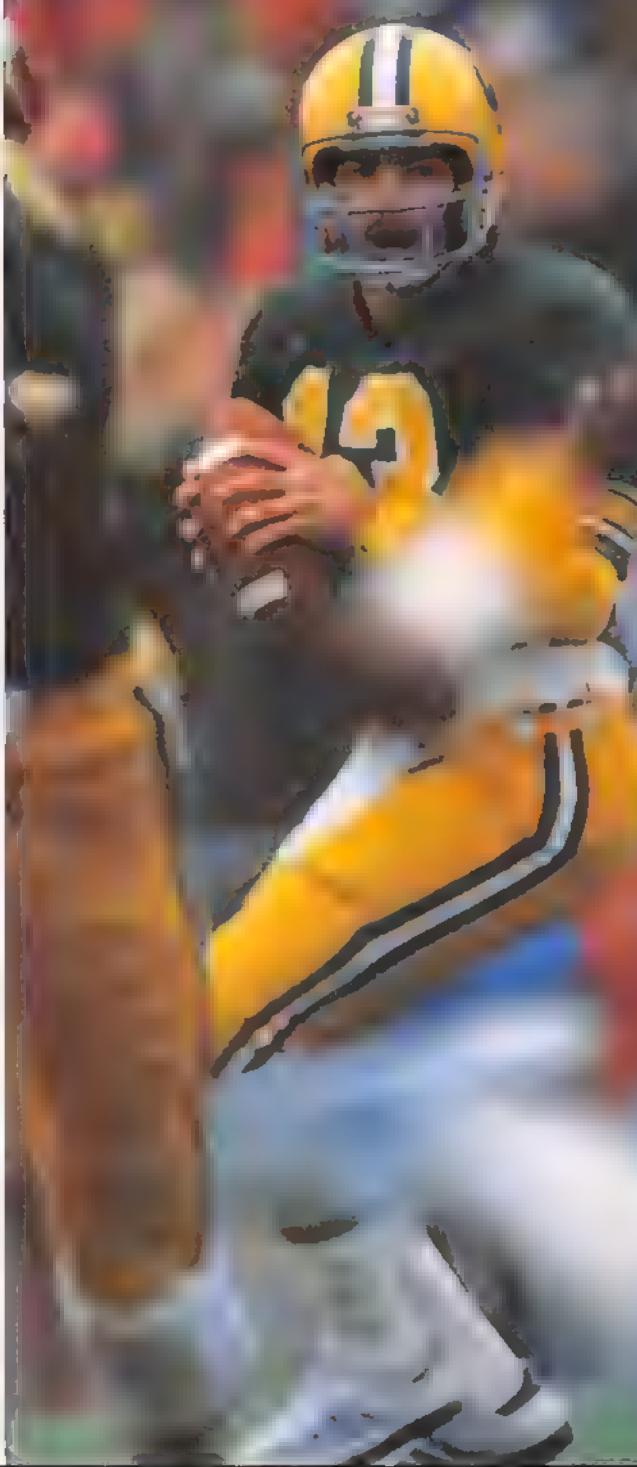

The dessert is the bomb.

Any play that winds up with the ball in the air takes on an allure because of the very factor that once made passing such a collegiate anathema. Sure, three things can happen when a pass is thrown and two are bad. One is so sensationally rewarding it's worth all the risk—when the pass is long and deep, the classic "bomb."

The passers down through the ages, starting with Gus Dorais and the game-reshaping connections he made with Knute Rockne for Notre Dame against Army 70 years ago, made their names for touchdown throws, not for outlet tosses.

In the college game, the long-range passer became an endangered species in the 1970s. The spotlight was on the tailback, and the tall, strong-armed quarterback who could retreat deep into a pocket and scan far downfield to pick out targets seemed passé. There was no room in the game any more for a strictly dropback passer, the conventional wisdom went.

Professionals continued to draft with different priorities than college coaches recruited. But even in the pro game, the kind of throws that Johnny Unitas popularized—and Don Hutson pulled in, years before Unitas was born—moved into the background.

At all levels of the game, the thinking was that defenses had defused the bomb Zone coverages and more sophisticated pass-rush techniques were too much for an arm and swift legs to counter, the game's statistics said.

In 1964, Jerry Rhome and Howard Twilley played pitch-and-catch, old-style, for Tulsa. Rhome defied that two-out-of-three-are-bad theory by throwing for 32 touchdowns with only four interceptions. They hadn't invented anything like a passing efficiency formula then, but when they did, they looked back and found that what Rhome did that year was the most efficient passing anyone of any era ever had managed—on anywhere near that volume, anyway.

"Passers down through the ages ... made their names with touchdown throws, not with outlet tosses."

Rhome's 1964 season graded out to 172.6, and no one else really was even close. The next-best figure for one of the recognized national passing champions was 161.7—by wee Davey O'Brien of Texas Christian in 1938.

Twilley was Rhome's main target and the national receiving leader. He caught 95 passes, 13 of them for touchdowns.

In 1975, the national pass-catching leader was Bob Farnham of Brown, with 56 receptions in nine games. Two went for touchdowns. The national leader in 1981, Pete Harvey of North Texas State, caught three for touchdowns.

That touches on a whole separate argument. Colleges are grading their receivers with the wrong kind of yardstick. It's as sensible to pick the national receiving leader by average number of receptions per game as it would be to say the national rushing leader is the man who has the most carries. Productivity is the key, and the receiver who averages the most yards per game is the national pace-setter—to everyone but the statisticians. Last year, that would have been Henry Ellard, who averaged 137.3 yards per game with his 62 catches for 1,510 yards for Fresno State. The NCAA ranked him only No. 5 in the nation for his 5.6 catches per game, although national leader Vincent White of Stanford (6.8 catches per game) produced less than half the yards that Ellard did (677, or 67.7 per game, or less than 10 yards per catch, compared to Ellard's 24.4).

However, there was an Ellard, and there were bombs again. It's all there in the numbers.

Rhome himself says numbers are the whole story: There are more passes, therefore there are more long passes.

Rhome makes his living now as the quarterback coach for the Super Bowl champion Washington Redskins, which means he keeps a close eye on pro and college trends—ever-mindful of the annual draft

"I think the bomb has always been there," he said. "But the ball is being thrown more now. You can't just throw short passes."

"We all went through the period with two-deep safeties, which makes it tough to throw the bomb. That made it easier to throw the 20- and 25-yard passes, so now they've changed to take that way and the long ball can be thrown."

"Does that mean the bomb is back? I can't predict the future. The situation dictates what you do. Things change."

The man whose thinking on the passing game is having an increasing effect on both college and professional football, Bill Walsh of the San Francisco 49ers, also goes to the numbers to say "the long pass is definitely a big factor in football."

"Look at the average per attempt. When it's above 7.5, you're completing some 'bombs.' Any time the average gets in the high sevens and low eights, that's what you're doing."

The most efficient passer in college football last year, Tom Ramsey of UCLA, averaged 9.08 yards per pass.

John Elway of Stanford averaged an even 8.00, and Duke's Ben Bennett, leader among the prolific passers returning this year, averaged 8.11 yards every time he put the ball in the air.

Ramsey hit for 21 touchdowns; Elway, 24; Bennett, 20. The bombs were flying, from West Coast to East.

There even are signs that already the college game is working to counter the new influence

"I love to throw it long," said a major college coach known for his leanings towards the passing game.

"But last year, we had a top passing quarterback and we ran into so many defenses that had decided, 'We'll just give him a whole bunch of short ones,' we had to go away from the long throw."

"In fact, we went so much the other way, people started questioning whether our QB really had a good arm."

"For some people the bomb is coming back, but not for us last year. Now, this year, we'll have a new quarterback, and maybe our opponents will give us some room."

"It is tougher to throw the bomb in college than in the pros. You can bang the receivers around a lot more under the rules we have right now."

However, another trend of the modern game is toward getting better and better athletes at the wide receiver spots. Some of the best ballcarriers in the college game now, trim and swift athletes who might have been spot-duty running backs and kick-return specialists when everyone was running I-formation or Wishbone offenses, are showing their skills after they catch passes now—or in eluding defenses to get open for bombs.

More and more colleges have been putting trackmen at the wide spots. Tennessee has done it for years, and last year, the Vols had the only two world-ranked track athletes who (1) played major-college football and (2) were taken in the NFL draft. Willie Gault, who went :10.10 in the 100 meters and :13.26 in the high hurdles, and Mike Miller, whose sprint times were :10.11 and :20.15, were the two Vols, and they were football regulars, not trackmen who were listed on the football roster.

Remember Ellard? He was a 25-foot long jumper and 54-foot triple jumper for Fresno State, bespeaking both speed and agility. And there are a host of others.

The beauty of the bomb is that hitting one forces a respect for it from every opponent the rest of the year. Maybe even longer. Former Michigan receiver Anthony Carter had Wolverine opponents terrified from the moment he electrified a typical 100,000-plus Michigan Stadium crowd with a breakaway touchdown catch at the gun to win a game against Indiana his freshman year.

With Carter, there remained ever after the "bomb" threat, but he represented the new athlete at the spot, the man equally dangerous when allowed to cut in front of deep defenders and catch the football in an area requiring an open-field tackle.

The artistry of the game once represented by Red Grange, or Glenn Davis, or Herman Wedemeyer, or any of the other "swivel-hipped" broken-field runners of yore now may be coming back with the wide-outs.

Grange, after all, was 5-10 and 170. What a wide-out he'd have been!

Michigan's Anthony Carter was dangerous catching bombs or passes underneath coverage with room to maneuver.

MEET THE PUNTER

by A.J. Carr, Raleigh News-Observer

In a game where teamwork is constantly practiced and preached, the punter is a staunch individualist.

He stands around a lot, watching and waiting. He often works out at the "other end" of the field. And when he does go into the game, he lines up about 15 yards behind everybody else.

His actual playing time on Saturday afternoon might be 60 seconds or less.

But regardless of the jokes about kickers being different, the punter is an integral part of any team. Games are sometimes won, or lost, by the flick of a foot.

His performance can eject his team from a deep hole and put his opponents into one, creating a sudden, significant switch in field position, emotional edge or momentum.

"Every time we punt, we see it as a possible 40-45 yard gain," said one coach.

Like shopping at a variety shoe store, coaches find punters in different shapes, sizes and styles.

The prototype would probably be tall and slender with excellent body flexibility, plus an ability to kick for distance and height and enough hang-time to allow linemen to circle under a receiver.

"But the worst thing you can do is clone punters, make them all kick the same way," said the coach. "I pay more attention to results."

To get results, a punter's head can be as important as his foot.

"A guy has to have a stable personality."

the coach continued. "From a conformity standpoint, I do look for personality and attitude.

"There are a lot of players who kick far that don't turn out as punters because they don't have good work habits or a good attitude. I also want a guy who considers himself to be a football player, not just a punter. I want him to think he is punting because no one else on the team does it better than he does."

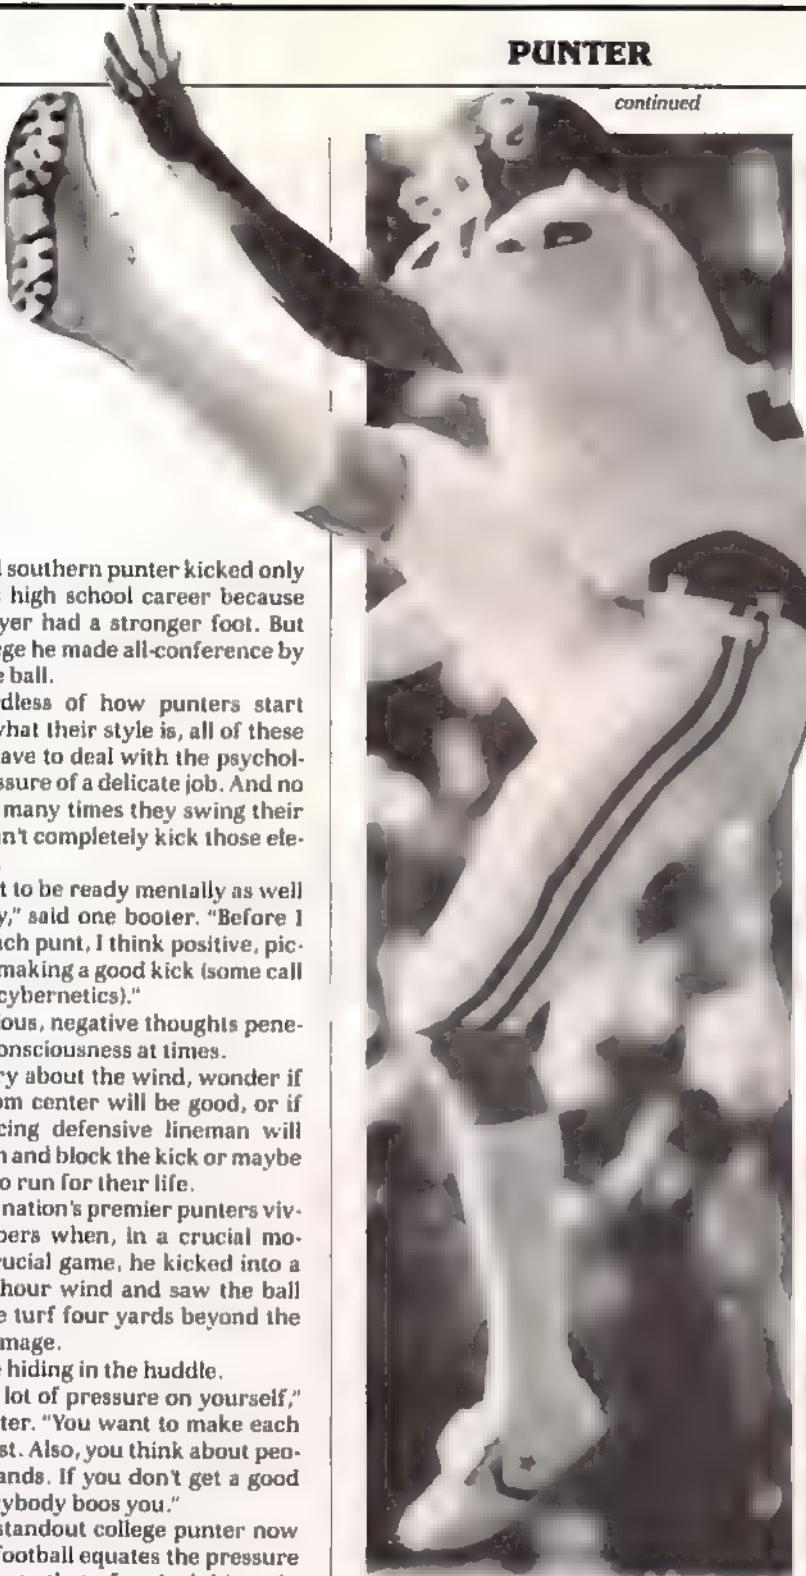

Some start punting, just for kicks, in back yards or fool around before practice. Others take the methodical route through youth Punt, Pass and Kick contests

continued

The pressure on a punter is similar to that felt by a pinch-hitter in baseball.

For that reason, a punter's average doesn't always serve as an accurate barometer for measuring his success.

To master these diverse touches, one kicker figured he booted between 100-150 punts per day in practice, until he started saving his leg for later in the week.

Though there is enough for the punter

One noted southern punter kicked only twice in his high school career because another player had a stronger foot. But once in college he made all-conference by booming the ball.

But regardless of how punters start kicking or what their style is, all of these specialists have to deal with the psychology and pressure of a delicate job. And no matter how many times they swing their foot, they can't completely kick those elements away.

"You've got to be ready mentally as well as physically," said one boomer. "Before I go out for each punt, I think positive, picture myself making a good kick (some call this psycho-cybernetics)."

Still, insidious, negative thoughts penetrate their consciousness at times.

They worry about the wind, wonder if the snap from center will be good, or if some menacing defensive lineman will blitz through and block the kick or maybe force them to run for their life.

One of the nation's premier punters vividly remembers when, in a crucial moment of a crucial game, he kicked into a 35-mile per hour wind and saw the ball flutter to the turf four yards beyond the line of scrimmage.

He felt like hiding in the huddle.

"You put a lot of pressure on yourself," said the punter. "You want to make each kick your best. Also, you think about people in the stands. If you don't get a good one off, everybody boos you."

A former standout college punter now playing pro football equates the pressure a kicker feels to that of a pinch-hitter in baseball.

"You don't get into the flow of the game as a pinch-hitter or punter," he said. "And when you kick, it's sort of a one-shot deal. When you miss a punt, that's it. It's hard to make up for a mistake. There is a premium on every kick."

Punters don't simply drop back and punt. Different situations demand certain types of kicks: a short, angle shot to the coffin corner; high and deep; short and high inside the 20, etc.

to concentrate on during idle moments on the sidelines, his mind is still apt to wander, especially with all the distractions at a college football game.

A couple of punters confessed to girl-watching while standing on the sidelines. Both could rank their opponents' best-looking cheerleaders.

"But I don't want the coach to catch me (looking)," said one. "He'd get on my case."

Kickers also have their quirks. One successful punter has worn the same shoe for four straight years and doesn't plan to change any time soon.

Others boot 'em barefooted to get a better "feel" for the ball.

Some try to combine the talents of placekicking and punting, but one said kicking off the tee "messed up" his punting due to a difference in technique.

Regardless, kickers find that some people still get a big kick out of poking fun at them.

A witty coach once cracked that if he died, he would like to be reincarnated as a placekicker because they have such an easy lifestyle.

"People kid us," said one talented punter. "But that doesn't matter. We are just as much a part of the team as they (other players) are."

This punter runs wind sprints, lifts weights, does stretching exercises and attempts to perform many of the same duties as the regular players.

"Punters don't have to be particularly strong," he said. "But strength and quickness could be important. You might need to tackle somebody one day."

Indeed, punters are sometimes the only defender between the return man and the goal line. And on occasion, they are forced to pick up a bad snap and scramble like a tailback, or fake a kick and go for it.

But it's during these suspenseful moments that coaches almost flip over their clipboards.

Punters also have been known to put on "Hollywood" acts. They fall purposefully after boozing the ball, pretending to have been roughed by a big, tough rusher.

Sorry guys, no more Academy Awards for you.

A new rule in the 1983 season will permit the official to throw an unsportsmanlike conduct flag against the punter who tries such a trick.

Punters must earn their praise by punting. And outstanding ones abound throughout the nation.

The arm might be awesome in the current passing craze of college football, but the foot is still formidable and the punter very important.

Just ask any coach facing a fourth and long on his own 20.

Enjoy a Tailgating Party

Tailgating parties and college football are quickly becoming inseparable partners. For what's a day at the game without a tailgate picnic to kick off the excitement? In stadium parking lots across the country this fall, fans are arriving early on game day to set up their barbecues, picnic tables, sometimes even stereo systems and television sets.

Of course, delicious food is essential to a good tailgating party, so Hormel has developed the following recipes for your picnicking pleasure.

HOT CHILI CHEESE SPREAD 2½ Cups

Rich flavor belies the simplicity of this spread.

1 can (15 ounces) chili with beans
1 cup grated sharp process cheese
Combine chili and cheese in small saucepan. Heat until hot and cheese is melted. Serve hot on sesame crackers or party rye. (note: this spread can be reheated on your barbecue)

PINEAPPLE PETAL SALAD 2 Servings
The pleasures of a salad that looks as lovely as it tastes.

1 can (6½ ounces) chunk ham, flaked
¼ cup chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons chopped celery
2 teaspoons chopped stuffed green olives
½ cup mayonnaise
lettuce leaves
4 canned pineapple slices, drained and chilled

Combine ham, green pepper, celery, olives, and mayonnaise. Cover and chill until serving time. Arrange lettuce leaves on 2 salad plates. Halve pineapple slices; place 4 halves on each plate to form a scalloped edge. Mound ham mixture in center. Garnish with additional olive, if desired.

MEXICALE CASSEROLE 4 to 6 Servings
Wonderful for a casual get-together of youngsters and the young-at-heart!

½ cup chopped celery
¼ cup chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (15 ounces) tamales
1 can (15 ounces) chili—no beans
½ cup shredded cheddar cheese
1 package (8½ ounces) corn muffin mix
In small skillet, sauté celery and green pepper in butter until tender. Remove papers from tamales and slice into bite-size pieces. Combine tamales, chili, celery, and green pepper. Pour half of mixture into 8- or 9-inch baking dish. Sprinkle with cheese and top with remaining mixture. Prepare corn muffin mix according to package directions; drop batter by spoonfuls over top of mixture. Bake in 375°F oven 25 minutes. (note: this dish can also be made at home, then reheated at your tailgate party on the barbecue)

DICK KAZMAIER

All-America & Heisman Trophy Winner by Jay Dunn, Trentonian

To Dick Kazmaier the 1951 Heisman Trophy was no big deal. When he was presented the trophy his reaction was little more than a polite shrug. He gave the hardware to his father, who in turn donated it to Princeton University.

A few weeks later Michigan State quarterback Al Dorow, who was Kazmaier's teammate in the East-West Shrine Game, proclaimed that Kazmaier could not have made the Spartan team and surely did not deserve the Heisman.

Kazmaier as much as shrugged again. "That was his opinion," he said years later.

"He's entitled to that."

The sort of thing to which Kazmaier did react was a newspaper article written by Joe Knack, sports editor of the Toledo (Ohio) Blade. Knack, who was familiar with the high-powered football programs in the Big Ten, made the trip to Princeton to do a story on the Maumee, Ohio, youngster who was causing a weekly frenzy at Old Nassau. When he finally caught up to the campus legend he found him working at his part-time job—driving a laundry truck.

Knack was flabbergasted. So were his readers when they read his story.

"That one (article) I particularly appreciated," Kazmaier remembers.

The story of Richard William Kazmaier, Jr. is much more than the story of a man who was extremely gifted at running with and throwing a football. It is the story of a man who chose to manifest these gifts in an academic atmosphere that was quite foreign to the decades which spawned many post-war Heisman Trophy winners.

It could be argued that his Heisman was a product of the times, but that would unfairly diminish his accomplishments on the gridiron.

In 1951 the college athletic world had

It's a Funny Game

Circle the correct letter.

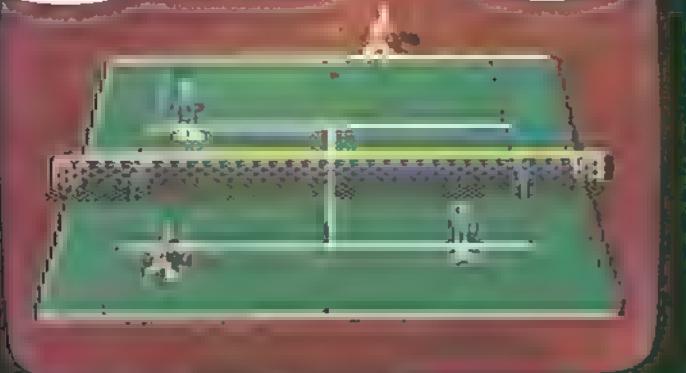

- 1) During the 1929 Rose Bowl, won by Georgia Tech 8-7 over Cal, Golden Bear center Roy Reigels picked up a fumble and:
  - a) looked around for his quarterback so he could hike the ball to him.
  - b) ran the wrong way with the ball, almost scoring a TD for Tech and setting up their winning safety.
  - c) faked a severe leg injury when he saw daylight and realized he would have to run with the ball.
  - d) ran the right way but collapsed in exhaustion at Tech's two-yard line.
- 2) Alabama quarterback great Joe Namath was recruited by Notre Dame. He turned down the Irish because:
  - a) Notre Dame relied on the run.
  - b) the coach wouldn't let him wear pantyhose on game day.
  - c) no women attended Notre Dame.
  - d) South Bend didn't have a Broadway Street.
- 3) Looking for an opening against Michigan, Illinois runner Buddy Young raced from sideline to sideline four times before:
  - a) he threw the ball across the field to a teammate, thus inventing the lateral pass.
  - b) he came up with the idea for the video game "Pong."
  - c) a crazed fan took a shot at him after mistaking him for a shooting gallery duck.
  - d) he broke into the clear and scored a TD.
- 4) Former Iowa State coach George Veenker once told a banquet audience, "I would like to introduce the boy who made our longest run of this season, a run of 90 yards. Unfortunately, ...
  - a) 'he didn't catch the man with the ball.'
  - b) 'he was the only player who made it that far in the fall practice mile run.'
  - c) 'he was chasing an obnoxious fan at the time.'
  - d) 'the pier was only 89 yards long.'
- 5) After a starting running back ripped his pants on a fourth quarter play, Notre Dame coach Knute Rockne summoned senior sub Pat Fogarty. "Fogarty," Rockne said, "O'Brien has torn his pants. ...
  - a) 'Go to the locker room and get me a needle and thread.'
  - b) 'Go out there and win one for the Ripper.'
  - c) 'Go out there and give him yours.'
  - d) 'I told the equipment manager he was a size 36.'

- 6) After a non-Catholic school's captain had complained several times about the biting tactics of his Catholic college opponent, official Paul Swaffield advised:
  - a) "I've heard of hungry teams before, but this is ridiculous."
  - b) "Why don't you schedule them on Fridays?"
  - c) "At halftime, drench yourselves in tabasco sauce."
  - d) "Tell them they really shouldn't eat people without red wine."
- 7) Former Michigan coach Fielding "Hurry Up" Yost, at the end of a particularly fiery halftime speech, implored his charges to "run through that door, and run through that opponent on the field." Yost's team eagerly obeyed and rushed the door. Unhappily,
  - a) the six-inch thick steel door was locked shut at the time.
  - b) the Michigan locker room was on the second floor.
  - c) the door Yost pointed to led right into the swimming pool.
  - d) the starting wingback broke his leg in the stampede.
- 8) When asked why he gave up coaching USC to run a ranch, Jeff Cravath said:
  - a) "Cattle don't have alumni."
  - b) "Cattle are smarter than football players."
  - c) "Cattle taste better than football players when barbecued."
  - d) "Cattle are easier to recruit."
- 9) According to rival Coach Paul Amen, former North Carolina coach Jim Tatum used to take recruits into the woods. Those who ran around the trees, he made ends and backs. For linemen, Amen joked, Tatum selected:
  - a) those who punched the trees.
  - b) those who bit the trees.
  - c) those who uprooted the trees and flicked them aside.
  - d) those who ran into the trees.
- 10) A Texas lineman forgot three consecutive plays during a practice. When his exasperated coach asked, "What's your IQ anyway?", the player responded:
  - a) "The square root of two."
  - b) "20-20."
  - c) "My parents said it would be best if I didn't know."
  - d) "Lower than my jersey number."

been rocked by two scandals—one that cut the heart out of Army's football team and another involving point-shaving in basketball, which nearly ruined that sport. Academicians were crying out with increasing alarm about "football factories."

Into this atmosphere came Kaz, playing at a university where football was regarded as little more than an extracurricular activity with grandstands. On one fateful day during his junior year Kaz received notification from the Associated Press that he had been chosen All-America and notification from Princeton University that his scholarship had been suspended because his grade-average was .2 below the figure required for a student to be eligible for financial aid.

The nation's media, weary of reporting scandals, flocked to Princeton and Kazmaier. Time even made him its cover story, pointing out in the lead paragraph the differences between Princeton's approach to the game and that of schools utilizing "huge hired hands taking snap courses . . ."

Perhaps the electors would have flocked to him on the flimsiest of pretenses. We'll never know. The season he had was solid Heisman.

Kaz was one of the last great single wing tailbacks. In 1951 he led the nation in total offense, rolling up 966 yards through the air and 861 on the ground. He did this despite the fact that he frequently did not play in the second half. Coach Charlie Caldwell had such an aversion to running up a score that Kaz's back-ups combined for more playing time than he received.

He completed 62.6 percent of his passes and concluded his career with a three-year figure of 59.5, which at the time was an NCAA record.

Despite the fact that he had made it clear he was not interested in professional football, he was drafted by the Chicago Bears. Even the usually persuasive George Halas could not talk him into changing his mind and joining the NFL. Instead Kaz enrolled in the Harvard Business School.

Admittedly, in 1952 Harvard Business School graduates generally commanded larger salaries than professional athletes, but there was more to the decision than that.

"I didn't think I wanted another experience in athletics," Kazmaier said, "when I'd just had the best you could find."

He did not, however, forsake the game he loves. Today he is not only president of his own enterprise, Kazmaier Associates, but also finds time to serve as chairman of the National Football Association.

Kaz had been a successful T-quarterback in high school and received more than 20 offers of athletic scholarships when he graduated. But, heeding the advice of his father, he spurned all of them when he was accepted at Princeton. Ironically, it took the Tigers more than two years to realize what they had.

The admissions officer who recommended Kazmaier be accepted did so with the notation: "Fine boy. Excellent record. Has played football and other sports in high school but too small to play college football."

That was also the view of the Tiger coaching staff, even after Kaz filled out to carry 171 pounds on his 5-11 frame. He was a defensive back on the freshman team for a time before convincing the coaches to shift him to offense.

The single-wing, however, was never designed for the light, quick back. When Kaz reached varsity level as a sophomore, Caldwell soon recognized his talents but continued to believe the youngster was too frail to play the position full time.

He changed his mind a year later and the result was astounding. The 1950 Tigers rolled to a 9-0 record, won the Lambert Trophy and were ranked sixth nationally by the AP. A year after Kaz had a less talented supporting cast, but Princeton repeated that feat. No one could figure out how to stop the tailback, especially on the running pass—the single-wing equivalent to a quarterback rollout.

"He whipsawed people to death with it," remembered Dick Colman, who was an assistant coach at the time. "He was such a great runner and great passer. If they dropped back to cover his passes, he'd run. If they stayed up, he'd throw over them."

Kaz was never better than on the afternoon of October 27 when Princeton tangled with Cornell in a battle of unbeaten powers that drew national attention. Instead of a classic showdown, the 49,000 fans witnessed a classic show. Princeton annihilated the Big Red, 53-15, with Kaz accounting for more than 70 percent of the offense. He ran for 154 yards and passed for 206, completing 15 of 17 attempts.

It was the sort of performance that made a lasting impression on anyone who saw it, including Boston Globe sports editor Jerry Nason. Years later Nason wrote:

I had observed Cagle and Booth, Blanchard and Davis, the magnificent Clint Frank, Bertelli at his best, Gilmer, Sinkwich, Harmon—but never Grange—yet Kazmaier of October 27, 1951, stands more sharply etched against the backdrop of time than any. Possibly never in the history of intercollegiate football had one player so conclusively imposed his will upon an outstanding opponent as Kaz did that afternoon.

That game, more than any other, brought Kaz the Heisman. But, in typical fashion, Dick is much more proud of his play seven days later when Princeton defeated a rugged Brown team, 12-0, in mud and snow.

"I had to work extra hard that day," he explained. "The game was played in impossible conditions. The weather took our running pass and outside game away. We had to go in a straight line."

You'd never convince Brown that wasn't Kaz's preference. He rambled for 262 yards and scored both touchdowns.

Not even Mother Nature could find a way to stop Dick Kazmaier.

All Sessions at the Air Conditioned

Bob Devaney Sports Center

Learning Can Be Fun!

It takes many hours of hard work and dedication to excel in the game of basketball. A positive and fun learning experience will help each individual to achieve his potential. Coach Iba is pleased to announce that he will again have some of the top coaches in the Midwest helping us along with the Nebraska basketball staff.

BOYS' CAMP

For boys entering the sixth grade through boys entering their senior year in high school. All campers will be grouped according to their age and ability. Each day of camp will include instruction on individual offensive and defensive techniques, team concepts, and actual game competition.

CLASS C and D SCHOOLS

There will be two one-week camps, one for Classes C and D schools only, one for Classes A and B schools only. Only high school age boys can participate. Each school must have a minimum of 8 players (we recommend 10), and a member of the high school's basketball staff will be coaching the team throughout the week. Each team will have daily practice sessions and play 3 or 4 games per day. There will be daily lecture and demonstrations by the Nebraska basketball staff or guest lecturers.

BOYS TEAM CAMPS

CLASS A and B SCHOOLS

BOYS ELEMENTARY and JUNIOR HIGH DAY CAMP

For boys entering the fourth grade through boys entering the ninth grade. There will be a morning and afternoon session with the noon meal being provided. This is a day camp and each camper must provide for his own lodging. The morning session will begin at 9:00 A.M. and the afternoon session will end at approximately 4:30 P.M. Instruction will be given on individual offensive and defensive techniques as well as team concepts. Each camper will play 2 or 3 games per day.

THE TOUCHDOWN CLUB OF NEBRASKA

One of the groups most instrumental in helping the University of Nebraska Athletic Department grow in the field of intercollegiate sports is the Nebraska Touchdown Club.

Contributions from TD Club members have enabled the Cornhuskers to build a fine grant-in-aid program and continued support from the Touchdown Club, and groups like the Husker Achievement Awards, the Extra Point Club, and the Cornhusker Beef Club, will insure that the Nebraska Cornhuskers will always hold a prominent place in the college sports world.

The University of Nebraska Athletic Department salutes the many members of the Touchdown Club and takes this opportunity to say a sincere "Thank You."

Touchdown Club members contributing $150 or more are:

CORNHUSKER FOOTBALL

ONLY ON PUBLIC-TV!

Tuesdays at 8 p.m.

This weekly program features Nebraska Sportscaster of the Year Don Gill of Lincoln and University of Nebraska Cornhusker linebacker coach John Melton plus interviews with players and complete game coverage of the previous week's game.

Made possible in part by a grant from Grandmother's Restaurants of Lincoln and Omaha.

The logo for All Stations Nebraska ETV Network. It features a stylized 'N' icon followed by the text "All Stations Nebraska ETV Network". Below the main text is a smaller line of text: "Ad made possible by Nebraskans for Public Television, Inc.".

CIMARRON '84 THIS ONE'S GOT THE TOUCH.

The Cadillac touch. It's everywhere. You can feel it when you put Cadillac's road-hugging Touring Suspension to the test. You can see it inside and out. From leather-faced front buckets with lumbar support to a hand-buffed exterior finish. It's attention to detail, too. Like push-button air. And aluminum alloy wheels. You've got to drive this car... and experience the Cadillac touch. Cimarron '84.

BEST OF ALL... IT'S A CADILLAC

Let's Get It Together... Buckle Up.

12 REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD OWN THE FIRST U.S. OLYMPIC COINS EVER MINTED!

1 The U.S. Olympic coins commemorate the first time in half a century that the Summer Games are being held on American soil.

2 This is the first time in history that the U.S. Mint has issued Olympic commemorative coins.

3 These ten dollar gold Olympic coins are the first gold coins minted in the United States in some 50 years.

4 All profits from the sale of the coins will go toward the Olympic effort for training expenses, the ever-rising costs of sending our team to the Olympic Games, and the staging of the Games in Los Angeles in 1984.

5 These are coins of the realm which, as legal tender, will be highly prized by collectors.

6 The coins are works of art. The 1983 silver dollar coin was designed by Elizabeth Jones, chief engraver at the Mint. The front of the coin shows a dramatic depiction of the classic Greek discus thrower. The 1984 silver dollar coin was designed by Robert Graham, a renowned Los Angeles sculptor. The front of the coin bears a representation of the Gateway to the Olympic Coliseum. The 1984 gold ten dollar coin was designed by John Mercanti, a member of the U.S. Mint engraving staff, developed from a concept created by James Peed, a visual information specialist at the Mint. The coin captures the penetrating scene of the Olympic Torch bearers in delicate detail.

7 The 1984 Olympic commemorative coins are handsome, packaged and protected. There could be no greater thoughtfulness for special gifts than an Olympic commemorative coin. They are a memento of a great event and will become a possession of lasting value. Most importantly they may serve as an inspiration—not everyone can be an Olympic champion—but with sufficient opportunities we can all achieve our personal goals.

8 The cost is minimal. For only $32 you can buy a U.S. proof commemorative silver coin that will help our U.S. Olympic team compete in the Games.

9 These magnificent commemorative coins are proof coins produced by a technique involving specially prepared dies and planchets and special multiple striking, resulting in particular sharpness of detail and a high flange. The result is a brilliant mirror-like finish and high square edge—a gem coin.

10 Even though the value of silver and gold fluctuates daily, the fair market value of the gold in your coin is approximately $200 and of the silver approximately $10*. All sales will include an Olympic contribution of $50 for each gold coin and $10 for each silver coin sold.

11 Each set includes an official message of validation signed by the Director of the Mint describing all you might wish to know about your prized acquisition.

12 It is easy to buy the coins. Just fill in the order form, enclose a check or your credit card number and mail it to the U.S. Mint.

While you are thinking about the Olympics, and how you are helping those young gifted athletes by giving the coins to others—REWARD YOURSELF with a set of your own—you deserve it!

*Based on a price of $415/oz of gold and $13/oz of silver.

Cornhusker Wheel Club 1983

Automobile dealers in Nebraska are contributing a large measure of help to the University of Nebraska athletic program through the loan of courtesy cars. Like other programs which are a part of the Cornhusker Booster group activities, this project enables the Nebraska Athletic Department to make greater use of its funds. These sports-minded dealers around the state have earned a debt of gratitude from the University of Nebraska Athletic Department. They are an important part of the "team" that includes players, coaches, administration, faculty, staff, students, alumni, Husker Educational Award group, Touchdown Club, Extra Point Club, Beef Club and the courtesy car program.

We love to see you go home.

At Methodist, we love to see you go home. When we say goodbye, it means we have done our job and you are on your way to a healthy recovery. Occasionally, it means you have added a new baby to the family. Sometimes, you have journeyed through a debilitating illness or injury and have found strength to rejoin family and friends. We rejoice with you, for your success is our success.

Methodist Hospital, a 559-bed acute care hospital at 84th and Dodge St., offers a full range of health care services from maternity to cancer treatment, from emergency care to physical therapy:

Methodist Midtown, a post acute care facility at 36th and Cuming, provides the total realm of rehabilitation and skilled nursing care needed to recover from the physical disabilities of stroke, joint replacements, fractures and other traumatic injuries.

Midtown also houses chemical dependency services, if you or a family member have problems coping with alcohol or drug abuse.

Whether you are regaining life's momentum with open-heart surgery, overcoming the battle with cancer or recovering from the effects of a stroke, at Methodist we have become your ally, your cheerleader, your friend—and though you'll be remembered we love to see you go home.

THE TWO-QUARTERBACK SYSTEM

by Bob Payne, The Tacoma News Tribune

You might think one of college football's leading exponents of the two-quarterback system, now a coach, would be revealed as an old quarterback-hater. A defensive end, maybe. A jealous offensive guard, at least.

Not so. Turns out he was a quarterback himself, and if this means he must turn in his union card, so be it.

"I've tried over the years not to get caught in any syndrome. I don't want to be a 'systems' person," he said.

"So, I've changed a lot. At one time, I guess I was a real one-quarterback guy. But now I've played with two and I believe that if you commit to a two-quarterback system, you'll always find ways to play two guys and the team will be better off.

'But,' he added, 'I know I'm totally in the minority on this.'

And, from the sound of other coaches, he'll stay there.

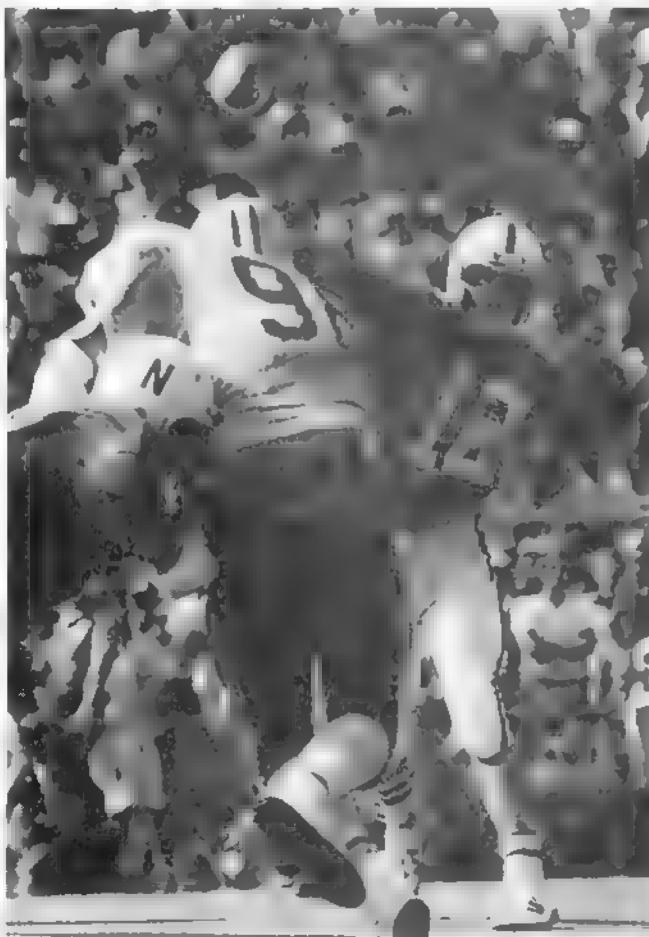

Said one coaching rival, "My philosophy is to try to establish a quarterback early—make him the guy you're going to go with until he proves you wrong."

Another coach concurs. "I can see some advantages to the two-quarterback system, but I think you have to make a commitment to a kid. I've always felt the quarterback was such a key guy, you've got to start grooming him from the first, to let him know he's your man."

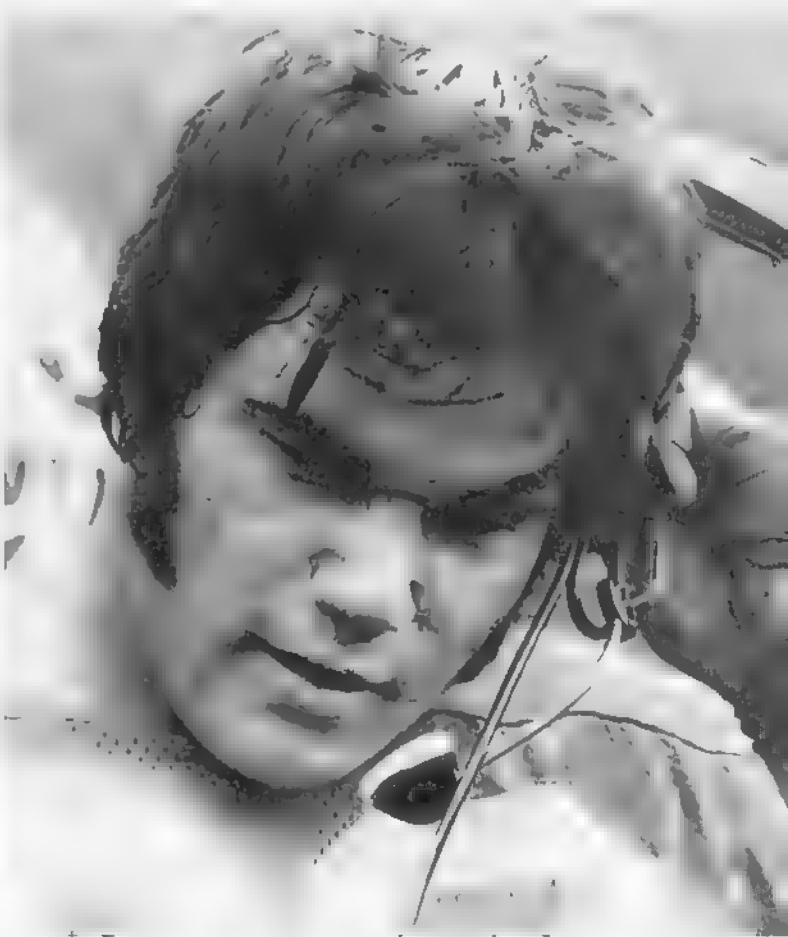

"I know from my own experience how important it is for a quarterback to know the job is his. He needs that confidence."

But even adamant opponents of the two-quarterback system acknowledge that it can work. One exponent claims,

continued

Proponents say one advantage of the two-quarterback system is that while one leads the team on the field . . .

. . . the second remains "in the game" by coordinating with coaches in the play selection process.

Right out of the pages of World War II. There's never been a collection like it before. And for a very good reason. Test pilot Chuck Yeager — who was a decorated World War II fighter pilot before he broke the sound barrier in the X-1 rocket plane — helped put it all together.

The collection features authentic World War II design, and everything is of high quality. And as an added touch, each item bears our exclusive X-1 emblem — embroidered on the clothing, stenciled on the sunglass case. The X-1 emblem will be a sure sign to everyone that you know what's "the right stuff." And that you also know AC-Delco is the way to go for the right parts.

TWO-QUARTERBACK SYSTEM

continued

"Everybody I've seen use it—really commit to it—has had success." He was including his own team, which had its finest year when he went to a full two-quarterback system.

"People forget I grew up in the age of one-platoon football," he said. "When I was in college, I not only had to play quarterback I had to play defense, too."

"Since everybody played both ways, and you couldn't go in but twice a quarter, we had 'platoons' that went both ways. In theory I'd play half the quarter and then come off the field when the other team came in. In reality, I ended up playing as an alternating quarterback."

"Quarterbacks do have to be treated a little differently. I agree on that," continued the coach. "But I disagree that you have to decide on one early. Quarterbacks by nature always want to be No. 1—neither will accept that he's No. 2. In a sense, I guess playing two quarterbacks all the time keeps you from having to tell one guy he's No. 2."

"When a kid is in a two-quarterback situation, he knows he's going in—but he also knows he's coming out. He has that security. He is convinced that he's really No. 1."

"We went to this idea in a year when our top two quarterbacks were guys of really different talents. We decided to use both of them—maybe because we couldn't decide between them. But it worked. The team had confidence that both of them could lead."

"I don't ever want to go back to the other way."

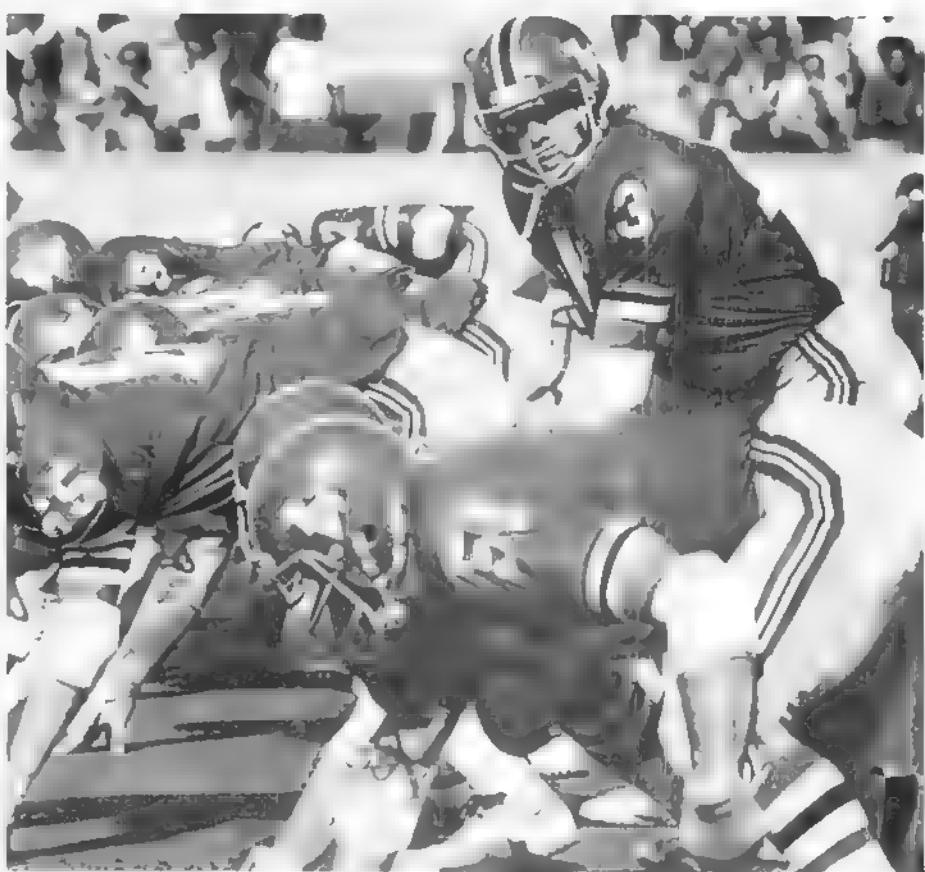

Most coaches see some value in using quarterbacks of differing talents.

"In an option situation, I could see it," said one head coach. "I mean, if you get way behind, late, with an option offense, then you're going to want to go to your passing quarterback, to take advantage of his abilities."

"In our system, we throw the ball, so we're obviously going to go with the best passer. Period."

"One time, we had one kid who was an excellent dropback, sprint-out type of passer and another who was more of a rollout, option type. In certain games, against certain defenses, we could change up and take advantage," said a two-quarterback coach.

"A team always reflects the personality of its quarterback," he continued, "and in some cases, the abilities. Our two guys were different in abilities—not as much as people thought, but different. The important thing was how the other teams perceived them—one a drop-back passer, the other an option, sprint-out type."

Some coaches use quarterbacks of different talents in different situations.

"So when the sprint-out guy came in, you'd see people widen their defense, which is why he became an excellent three-step dropback passer—everybody on defense was playing 'laterally.' And the dropback guy, because defenses would fall off and look for him to throw, became a better runner."

"As a result," said the coach, "while everybody was worrying about our quarterbacks, our inside running game became better than it should have been—we led the conference in rushing!"

"We pursued two strengths and capitalized on the different things people feared in our two quarterbacks."

How does a coach develop a strategy for the two-quarterback system?

"I do think you do have to settle on who is the starter—the prober—and who is the off-the-bench guy. Otherwise, though, we just sort of play it by ear," said one coach.

"Of course, the guys are communicating all the time. The one who's not on the field is beside me all the time."

"One of the good points about the system is that the second quarterback is with you all the time, in on the play selection."

really in the game

"We work with two quarterbacks all the time," said another coach. "In practice our No. 2 guy is going to be involved with the first team one-third of the time."

"One year, late in the season, our No. 1 guy went down. The first team was already used to working with the No. 2. In fact, the team was really inspired to help the backup succeed, so there was some real excitement out there, a real pulling together."

Another coach pointed out, "This year's backup is next year's starting quarterback. Ideally, you bring along No. 2 slowly, play him when you can, maybe in a tight spot once or twice, so he'll be ready either if No. 1 goes down or for the next year."

It appears, then, there really isn't any such thing as a "one-quarterback system." It's just a matter of when, and how often, the second gets to play.

Said the two-quarterback exponent, "I just hate to see a quality kid standing on the sidelines. All of us want to have at least three quality quarterbacks in our program, so why leave two of them sitting?"

BEAR BRYANT REMEMBERED

Coach Bryant expected his teams to win—and they usually did.

By Alf Van Hoose
Birmingham News

Paul William Bryant, The Bear, 1913-1983.

A year ago, in the grand, glad season of the year for the great campus sport, he was living legend.

Today and tomorrow and tomorrow he's only legend. It'll steadfastly grow.

Historians deep in the 21st Century may not understand why this remarkable man was for football's ages.

He left no distinctive attack formation, as did Knute Rockne, Pop Warner, Don Faurot, Darrell Royal and Bill Yeoman. No particular defense bears his name, nor Alabama's.

Bryant led no crusades, in athletics or sociology. He championed no causes.

Yet . . . he left his footprints, giant ones, in his profession, which was teaching boys.

For the last 15 or 20 years of his busy, busy life, Paul Bryant was America's folk hero, its Daniel Boone-Davy Crockett-Buffalo Bill-Teddy Roosevelt-Alvin York—young Charles Lindbergh—Will Rogers-type.

He recognized that. He loved it, but didn't have to change his hat size.

Charles Nesbitt's story illustrates Bryant's fame afar.

Nesbitt is a Birmingham News photographer. He vacations most summers in the West, with his family, backpacking

He was in Wyoming three years ago, two days of hiking from the fringes of so-called civilization. He and two sons located a trout bonanza. The fun lasted until the rocks of the mountain stream claimed their last fishing flies.

The next morning, deeper into the wilderness, they chanced on a rough cabin. There was life in it, a grizzled old chap who had to enjoy loneliness.

There was a chat, and an off-hand Nesbitt question: "You don't happen to have any fishing flies, do you, Mister?" Yes, this descendant of Kit Carson replied, and his guests were welcome to a few.

Charity dispensed, the old man evidently was curious. "Where you folks from?" he asked.

"Alabama," Nesbitt answered.

"Alabama?" went an echoing reply. "what's Ole Bear gonna have this year?"

Bryant enjoyed hearing that story. He enjoyed friends, not opponents, laughing at him.

Little Rock attorney Ike Murray was a Bryant teammate at Fordyce (Ark.) High. They played on two state championship teams. No man rivaled Murray in telling Bryant teen-age stories:

"I met Bryant when he stumbled into the seventh grade (the Bryant family of 14 lived six miles out of town, in an unpainted farm shack in Moro Bottom). I mean stumbled—he was the awkwardest country boy I've ever known. Country? I mean rural, real rural.

"He wasn't an Einstein in the classroom either. If I'd been writing our senior class prophecy, I would have guessed Bear would wind up in the penitentiary.

"He winds up being a teacher. A darn good one, too, right?"

Frank Howard, of Clemson fame, was a Bryant coach at Alabama. The Bard of Barlow Bend could raise welts on Bryant's rawhide skin.

"We got him a job cutting grass on the campus," Howard tells it. "It was three weeks before he quit saying 'gee,' 'haw' and 'whoa' to the lawnmower."

All-time blind golf champion Charley Boswell could delightfully prick Bryant's ego about that ancient game.

"One day Bryant was having a normal round—bad—and blaming clubs, course, weather, balls, and finally the caddy.

"You are probably the worst caddy in the world," Bryant fumed.

The caddy replied he didn't think so. Bryant wanted to know why.

"That, Mr. Bear," the caddy answered, "would be too much of a coincidence."

Through the years stories such as those will attach themselves to the Bryant legend, as they did about Abe Lincoln. His sayings will multiply as have those of Confucius.

Bryant facts are in stone. There was substance to the American Dream he represented, the poor farm boy who grew and grew until he walked a mountain top in his profession—323 coaching victories—the college record.

Notre Dame's Rockne was voted the outstanding coach of the 20th Century's first half. Bryant will be that man in the last half.

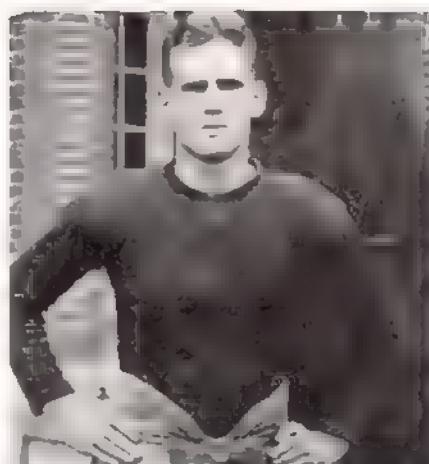

The man behind those wins, as in Rockne's case, was more interesting than the numbers his teams flicked on scoreboards.

All sorts of testimony is available on Bryant's personality and professionalism.

"A true American hero," President Ronald Reagan declared in awarding the Presidential Medal of Freedom to Bryant's family a month after his January 26 death.

"American sports embody the best in our national character, dedication, teamwork, honor and friendship . . . Bear Bryant gave his country the gift of a legend. In making the impossible seem easy, he lived what we all strive to be."

The six national championships his Alabama teams won formed prideful Bryant memory. He loved mention of that feat—but not as much as his reading the roll of successes by his former players.

Paul Crane, All-America center, 1965, now a Mobile businessman, said of Bryant on January 27:

"I feel like all his players do. We have lost a part of our foundation."

"There are two phases of coaching. There is the winning side, the records, who won the most, who did the most

"But there is another side, the relationship with young men, developing young people. Outside people remember Coach Bryant for football accomplishments but inside people remember him for the other side of coaching."

Bryant's star began to twinkle as an Alabama sophomore end in 1933 under Frank Thomas, head coach, a Notre Dame quarterback when George Gipp played.

In 1934, on a Tide which won all, including a 29-13 Rose Bowl game against Stanford, Bryant was a starter on the end opposite Don Hutson.

Bryant played most of his senior season with what turned out to be a broken leg. It hurt, but, so what.

He was four years assistant at Alabama, then two years assistant head coach to Red Sanders at Vanderbilt.

The day after Pearl Harbor he volunteered into the Navy. There was some ship duty, but mostly he was assigned coaching duty, at North Carolina and Georgia.

Maryland made him head coach in 1945. He quit the next spring, with a 6-2-1 record. Maryland president Curly Byrd fired a Bryant assistant and reinstated a Bryant-suspended player while the head coach was off campus. The head coach quit when he heard about that.

Kentucky hired him immediately. The Wildcats had never won an SEC championship and had an 8-20-1 record the three previous years.

The Wildcats immediately went 7-3, the first time UK had won seven football games in 34 years.

Kentucky was 10-1 in 1950, SEC champ and broke Oklahoma's 51-game unbeaten string in the Sugar Bowl, 13-7.

Bryant moved to Texas A&M in 1954, starting with a 1-9 season, his only losing year. Two years later the Aggies went 9-0-1.

Alabama called him back in 1958, to a disaster situation. The Tide had elbowed to a 4-24-2 three-year record.

Bryant's maiden year, Bama was 5-4-1. It did not go to a bowl. All other Bryant Tides did, 24 in a record row.

He marched on and on toward Amos Alonzo Stagg's 314-mark. He got there in 1982.

During the 1970s, Bryant teams won 103 games (around 16 losses and a tie). That was a record, too.

Bryant coached 65 first-team All-Americans, which is not a high. But the 46 former players or assistant coaches of his who became head coaches in college or pro competition is a high, all-time No. 1.

'There'll be others.'

He never quit rising with the rooster, nor going to bed with the owl. He could never wind down, relax, do nothing.

He was a sucker for an invitation, from a friend seeking a speaker; for a charity needing a broad shoulder.

A dozen years before his death he endowed a $100,000 scholarship fund at Alabama for non-football students. As happily as a kid putting money in a piggybank, Bryant added to the pot each year. The base figure now approaches a half-million bucks.

He could have run for governor in his state, and won. He chose not to run.

His work ethics, discipline demands, unselfishness of time and money, his insistence on 'class,' captured his state's attention first, then the nation's.

His pre-game ritual, hat over his eyes, gun-fighting glint in his eyes, leaning against a goal post, was pure theater. Cameramen loved it.

His teams played as if hounds of hell yipped at his heels. They seldom lost. When they did, there was no alibi, no blaming officials, nothing but praise for the winner.

Bryant could coach. That opinion became unanimous after the 1978 Sugar Bowl.

Alabama had just whipped Ohio State, 35-6, and Bryant was before TV cameras with his old friend Woody Hayes, Ohio State coach.

Bryant spent a minute or so talking about the game, and a couple of minutes more lauding Hayes.

He finished with a grin and this line:

"Woody's one helluva coach—and I ain't bad."

Eleven new members of the National Football Foundation's College Football Hall of Fame will be formally inducted at a ceremony in New York City on December 6, 1983. The selections were made by the Foundation's Honors Court and include six linemen and five backs, all of whom won All-America acclaim.

Dick Butkus was a University of Illinois linebacker from 1962-64. He was known for his strength, speed and agility, plus what sportswriters termed an "uncanny" ability to size up opponents' plays. His coach, Pete Elliott, said of Butkus that, "Only once in three years was he out of position in defending against screen passes . . . He is the finest football player I ever coached." Butkus set an all-time Illini single game, single season and career tackle record. Among his accomplishments was making or assisting in 23 tackles against Ohio State as a junior. He was a two-time All-America and was named 1964's Player of the Year by the American Football Coaches Association. In '63 Butkus led Illinois to a Big Ten title and to victory over Washington in the Rose Bowl. He was named to the all-time Big Ten team in 1970. Following college he had an excellent pro football career, and is now an actor-commentator for Nautilus Sports Medical Industries.

William Fischer, a two-time All-America guard, was a star for Notre Dame. During his college career the Irish had three undefeated seasons, 1946 through '48. Fischer played at tackle as a freshman, then was switched to guard under Coach Frank Leahy the following year. At the end of Fischer's junior season, during which he served as team captain, he was voted the nation's outstanding lineman by the Touchdown Club of Washington, and was awarded the Outland Trophy. In the 1949 East-West Shrine Game, Fischer was named captain of the East team, which defeated the West 14-12. Fischer participated in the Chicago Tribune All-Star Game after his final season with the Irish and was named the game's MVP. He played pro football for five years, then served as a line coach at his alma mater. Today he owns an automobile agency in Michigan.

Lee Roy Jordan was the University of Alabama's star center from 1960-62. His coach, the late Paul "Bear" Bryant, called him "one of the finest football players the world has ever seen. He was a 100 percent performer in practice and a 110 percent performer in games." An Alabama legend, Jordan won All-America honors twice and led the Crimson Tide to the national championship in 1961. He captained the College All-Stars to their victory over the NFL champion Green Bay Packers. Jordan later was an all-pro for the Dallas Cowboys, and today is a Dallas businessman.

Charles Krueger was a Texas A&M University tackle from 1955-57. Twice an All-America pick (as a junior and senior), he was also an Academic All-America. Krueger played under the guidance of Coach Paul Bryant, who had recruited the big—6-4, 218 pounds—tackle from high school. Charley started every game for three years in college and captained the team his senior season. That year the Aggies went to the Gator Bowl, where they lost to Tennessee by a field goal. Krueger is a member of the Texas Football Hall of Fame, and today is a successful retail store owner in California.

Floyd Little, a Syracuse halfback from 1964-66, was one of the few players ever to win All-America accolades three times. He also was named the conference (ECAC) player of the year in his senior season. Little made the three longest punt returns in Syracuse history—95, 91 and 90 yards. The 5-11, 195-pound dynamo held his school's all-time career rushing record until it was broken by Larry Csonka. Little gained nearly 5,000 yards in his college career, not including an additional 331 yards he accounted for in two bowl appearances. Twelve times he rushed for more than 100 yards per game. graduation, Little played pro football, then became an auto dealer in Santa Barbara, California.

Lewis "Bub" McFadin played at guard for the University of Texas at Austin from 1948-50, and is regarded as one of the Longhorns' all-time great linemen. McFadin, a 6-3, 245-pounder, was honored as an All-America as a junior and senior. He played in the 1951 College All-Star Game and was named Most Valuable Player for his outstanding efforts. McFadin went on to serve two years in the U.S. Air Force, then played professional football for several years. He was an assistant coach for the Houston Oilers before becoming a full-time rancher in Del Rio, Texas.

George Owen was one of Harvard's greatest all-around athletes, and perhaps the best-known Crimson athlete of the 1920s. He captained both the baseball and hockey teams and was an All-America halfback. A true "60-minute player," Owen's most exciting game was the 1921 10-3 victory over Yale, when he scored all 10 of Harvard's points. He was also instrumental in achieving the following year's win—another 10-3 victory—over the Elis. Yale considered him such an outstanding opponent that on the eve of his graduation they sent a telegram to Harvard saying "Please be sure Owen graduates today . . ." Following college, Owen had a stint with the National Hockey League, then became an investment broker. He is now retired.

Jack Scarbath quarterbacked the University of Maryland football team from 1950-52. He was a unanimous All-America selection in '52 and was runner-up to Billy Vessels for the Heisman Trophy. Scarbath, who was regarded by many as the definitive split-T quarterback, led the Terrapins to 22 consecutive victories under the coaching direction of the late Jim Tatum. Scarbath also took his team to a 28-13 victory over national champion Tennessee in the Sugar Bowl. He played pro football after college, then coached at the University of South Carolina.

line. He later became a sales engineer and board member for a large Philadelphia firm, and now also serves as a member of the University of Maryland's Board of Regents.

O.J. Simpson began his spectacular football career at City College of San Francisco, where he broke every national junior college rushing and scoring record. He racked up 54 touchdowns and in one game scored six TD's. Simpson then moved to USC to play for John McKay's Trojans for two seasons, quickly becoming the school's most publicized athlete. In 1967 Simpson led the nation in rushing and placed second in the Heisman balloting. The following year he won the Heisman and the Maxwell Trophy as well. His great speed was combined with a power that helped him break many records at USC. After Simpson's graduation he had an excellent NFL career, again breaking a series of records. He later went on to a successful career in television and movies.

Albert Sparlis was a guard for the University of California, Los Angeles. He played in 1940 and '42 for Coach Babe Horrel and in 1945 for Coach Bert LaBrucherie, after having served in World War II as a pilot. That year he won All-America honors. Sparlis, who played at 190 pounds, was known for his quickness and competitive drive. A heavily decorated war hero, he won seven campaign medals—three in World War II, three in the Korean War and one in the Vietnam War. Sparlis is now an associate vice-president for Coldwell Baker and Company in Los Angeles.

THE COLLEGE FOOTBALL HALL OF FAME

TIME TUNNEL

The National Football Foundation's College Football Hall of Fame is a fan's dream come true. Located at Kings Island, Ohio—a 1600-acre family entertainment center—the Hall of Fame is a fascinating place, rich in college football lore.

Legends and memories, past and present, come to life for the visitor. The great coaches, players and personalities enshrined in the Hall are vividly presented through displays and multimedia attractions. You can meet outstanding figures of bygone days simply by touching a telescreen keyboard. The computer then gives out information on such well-known men as Jim Thorpe, Tom Harmon, Bronko Nagurski, "Whizzer" White, Pop Warner, and any other of the Hall's members.

There are many action-oriented exhibits through which the visitor can become directly involved with football. In fact, a personalized approach is an integral part of the Hall of Fame. In the Strategy Room you can test your skill and judgment in game situations faced by history's great coaches. Elsewhere there's an opportunity to find out whether you can kick a field goal; just tee up the ball, kick it and the result is measured while a stadium crowd boos or cheers. At the Computer Information Center you'll get answers to questions on records, coaches, players and teams.

Four theaters provide films on great individuals and teams, classic contests and funny moments in football. There's also a cartoon "explanation" of the game by Hanna Barbara's Fred Flintstone. A 250-seat Grandstand Theater shows football's Modern and Golden eras through films and slides.

In the Time Tunnel you'll find a history of football from its earliest beginning as a Greek game called Harpaston, played in 478 B.C., to its modern version. Did you know that in Ye Olde England King Henry II outlawed the sport when he found that his archers were spending more time kicking a ball than drawing their bows? You'll find exploring the development of football a most interesting way to look at history.

You won't want to miss the Knute Rockne Locker Room, a 25-seat theater built like a locker room. There you can watch an audio-visual show on great college coaches, a show highlighted by a specially-produced animated figure of Coach Rockne re-enacting his legendary "Win One for the Gipper" pep talk.

And if all the excitement in the Hall of Fame whets your appetite, you can visit the Campus Soda Shop, an authentic 1930s-style campus soda fountain. It offers beverages, sandwiches and a juke box that plays college fight songs.

The College Football Hall of Fame was established in 1978 and is managed by the Taft Broadcasting Company, owners of Kings Island, under the auspices of the National Football Foundation. The purpose of the Hall is to honor former greats, to provide a history of football, and to inspire and educate through the principles of the game. Among the Hall's educational facilities is a research library, where an excellent collection is available for students, journalists and interested visitors. There's also a full-size football field next to the hall for clinics, demonstrations and practice sessions.

At the Hall of Fame the visitor can experience all the color and pageantry of college football under one roof. Here, as noted in The Big Book of Halls of Fame (Jaques Cattell Press), you can get "to know the game of college football intimately within 2-3 hours" or attain "in 10 minutes a first-name kind of friendship with a famous college football star of the past."

THE TOP 20 BASKETBALL TEAMS FOR 1983-84

by Dave Dorr,
St. Louis Post-Dispatch

AKANSAS. In his nine years as the head Hog, it seems every time Eddie Sutton turned around he was staring Abe Lemons or Guy V. Lewis in the face in a crucial game. Lemons is out of the league now but the beat goes on. Sutton and Houston's Lewis will duke it out for the SWC championship in 1983-84. The Dancing Razorback was in his glory at Barnhill Arena last season when the Hogs started 14-0 before losing at Houston. Arkansas finished at 26-4, bowing out in the Midwest Regional when it was Hog-tied by Louisville on a tip-in at the buzzer. U of L came back from a 16-point deficit. Turnabout was fair play. Arkansas had eliminated Louisville from the NCAA tournament in 1981 on a spectacular 50-foot desperation shot by U.S. Reed at the final buzzer. The 1983-84 Razorbacks will have the same look most of the Sutton teams have had—that is, guard-oriented and quick, quick, quick. The backline leader of last season, Darrell Walker, is gone but 6-3 Alvin Robertson, 6-1 Willie Cutts, 6-2 Ricky Norton and 6-5 Keenan DeBose return. Up front Sutton has 6-11 Joe Kleine, a 250-pound strongboy, and 6-6 Leroy Sutton (no relation). If the Hogs can improve their shooting (53 percent from the field but a frosty 63 percent at the line last season), they'll give Houston all it wants in the SWC run for the roses.

AUBURN

We start here with remarkable Charles Barkley, a 272-pound chocolate chip freak who shot 64 percent last season, shattering an 18-year-old school record, and who feasted on SEC competition inside as he took down the league rebound crown for the second straight season. You can call him the Round Mound of Rebound, Food World, Breadtruck or Amana (this profile is along the box lines of a refrigerator), but when it comes to putting the ball in the hoop, you'd better call him amazing. In one three-game stretch last season he sank 31 of 34 shots (10-for-10 against Georgia) and he shot 66 percent in 18 SEC games—a Conference record, rewarding himself with two or three pizzas. At the halfway point of the SEC season there were six teams tied for first place and one was Auburn, a school that has won only one conference title (1960). The 6-6 Barkley, who averaged 14.4 points and 9.5 rebounds and had 45 blocks, led the Tigers to a wire-service national ranking (No. 20) for the first time since 1975. Auburn couldn't hold it in the unbelievably balanced SEC, but with the Round Mound around this season and help from 6-8 Chuck Person and 6-0 Paul Daniels, Auburn could be sitting pretty. Coach Sonny Smith also has eight recruits, including four blue-chip freshmen of the bluest variety, one of whom is 6-4 Frank Ford, who averaged 26 points and 21 boards in high school. The Tigers' pause on the way up in the SEC will only be to look back.

FRESNO STATE

In his heart of hearts, Boyd Grant never believed when his Bulldogs were 13-9 at one point last season that he would see such a fantastic finish. FSU came alive after Boyd abandoned his ball-control offense and let the Dogs run. And run they did. FSU went 12-1 the rest of the way, winning the NIT in the school's first appearance in that tournament and ending up 25-10 with a 69-60 victory over DePaul at the Garden in New York in the NIT title game and a tournament MVP plaque for 6-7 Ron Anderson. When the Dogs returned to the San Joaquin Valley, the reception from the Red Wave, as FSU's enthusiastic fans call themselves, was overwhelming. A parade on Clinton and Cedar Streets in Fresno drew thousands and at a banquet California Congressman Chip Pashayan read a letter of congratulations from President Ronald Reagan. The opposition dreads having to play at Fresno's Selland Arena—renamed Grant's Tomb by the Red Wave—where the tenacious defensive style that Grant prefers has helped build a record of 74-9 in six seasons. Bernard Thompson, 6-6, and Anderson were forces all of 1982-83, but it was 6-4 guard Mitch Arnold and Desi Barmore who came on like gangbusters down the stretch. Thompson, Anderson and Arnold return. Grant will take a long look at 6-11 Dave Mosebar and transfers 6-8 Scott Barnes and 6-0 Ron Strain. A fourth PCAA title could be in the offing for Grant, whose record at FSU is 131-42.

GEORGETOWN

There are few occasions during which any basketball team will win by shooting 36 percent, the figure that Georgetown clanged the rims with in being bounced from the Midwest Regional by Memphis State. Oh well. Big John Thompson, the Hoyas' coach, knew that there would be nights like that. Even with 7-0 foot Pat Ewing, perhaps the nation's top defensive center, patrolling the baseline, the Hoyas were much too young to realistically believe they could make a return appearance in the national championship game as they had in 1981-82 in New Orleans. It is one reason why Thompson keeps a deflated basketball on a shelf in his office—to remind himself and his players that there will be times, and games, when the wind will be knocked out of their sails. Nobody's perfect, though Thompson attempts to bring his players as close to perfection as possible. Ewing blocked 106 shots and altered 110 more in the Hoyas' 22-10 campaign. In the last four seasons Georgetown's record is 98-35, more to Thompson's liking. With the top nine players from 1982-83 returning, and a blue-chip frosh in 6-7 Reggie Williams reporting for duty, Thompson's Hoyas won't be clangng many rims this season. The shooting will be pure and sweet and the Beast of the East will be as scary as before.

GEORGIA

When Dominique Wilkins, Georgia's star in 1981-82, bolted for the riches of the NBA, there was handwringing in Athens. The worry was an

GUESS WHO HIRED MORE PEOPLE RIGHT OUT OF COLLEGE LAST YEAR THAN ANYONE ELSE.

Hiring college grads is something the Army has always done. And lately, we've been doing a lot more of it.

In fact, last year alone nearly 7,000 college grads chose to begin their future as Army officers.

Why? Some wanted the opportunity to develop valuable leadership and management skills early in their career.

Others were impressed with the amount of responsibility we give our officers starting out. And still more liked the idea of serving their country around the world.

Interested? Then you can start preparing for the job right now, with Army ROTC.

ROTC is a college program that trains you to become an Army officer. By helping you develop your leadership and management ability.

Enrolling can benefit your immediate future, too. Through scholarships and other financial aid.

So the next time you're thinking about job possibilities, think about the one more recent college graduates chose last year than any other.

exercise in futility as it turned out, because the chemistry of the team was for the better and a team that was picked to finish in the lower tier of the SEC achieved a miracle. The Bulldogs made it to the NCAA tournament for the first time in the 77 years it had played hoops and then embellished the saga with an appearance in the Final Four. Not only that, Georgia's women's team also reached the NCAA Final Four, destroying the myth that the only thing worth talking about at Georgia was Herschel Walker and football. The Dogs defeated St. John's and North Carolina en route to Albuquerque and The Pit. A confident Sam Perkins of the Tar Heels had said before he had been mugged by James Banks, Gerald Crosby, Vern Fleming and Terry Fair, "I didn't even know what conference they were in." SEC, Sam. This was the same Georgia that tied for fourth in the league and was too small and couldn't shoot. They said. The Dogs' miraculous run at immortality ended when they shot an icy 27 percent in the first half and lost to NC State at Albuquerque. The 6-6 Banks, 6-1 Crosby and 6-5 Fleming return, along with 6-6 Richard Corben and 6-2 Donald Hartry. Count on Coach Hugh Durham to keep it going. In one miraculous month, Georgia went from underdawgs to top dawgs.

Houston's Akeem Abdul-Olajuwon has been called awesome.

Coogs coach Guy V. Lewis lost Clyde Drexler to the NBA, but Akeem is staying in school. With plenty of backup support available in 6-5 Benny Anders, 6-6 Michael Young, 6-6 Reid Gettys and 6-2 Alvin Franklin, the Phi Slamma Jamma show could be the best on fraternity row again.

ILLINOIS

The Illini got so good so fast last season that they finished in a tie for second in the Big Ten. It was an unexpected bonus. Since they appear to be a year ahead of schedule, the speed they have picked up just might carry them to interesting places in 1983-84. The outlook was altered somewhat when guard Derek Harper decided at the last minute to include his name in the NBA draft, but Coach Lou Henson has a wealth of talent and he still has 6-9 Efrem Winters and 6-3 Bruce Douglas, a flashy backliner who set school records for steals (78) and assists (189). The Illini, minus Harper, toured Yugoslavia in May, enabling Henson to settle some lineup problems. Illinois won seven of 11 games on the trip abroad as Winters averaged 21.2 points and 11.5 rebounds and had a high game of 40 points. The others who fit into Henson's plans are 6-4 Doug Altenberger, 6-8 George Montgomery, 6-9 Scott Meents, 6-9 Anthony Welch and 6-7 Jay Daniels. Illinois had to win its last regular-season game to remain in contention for a place in the NCAA tournament. The Illini did it in a white-knuckler, defeating Minnesota in double overtime and putting Henson in the tournament for the eighth time. He took New Mexico State to the Final Four in 1969-70 and in line with that he has the Illini going strong, too. They've won 101 games in the last five seasons. With Winters around, the winter in Champaign should be a bubbly affair.

IAWA

Longshots when the NCAA tournament rolled around last March, the Hawkeyes were overlooked by many because they finished fifth in the Big Ten and their 19-9 record was anything but glossy. Statistics can be misleading, though, and they were, as Iowa proved. Of the nine defeats, eight came in games decided in the final 30 seconds. The Hawks dropped a velvet hammer on Missouri in the Midwest Regional by pinching the Tigers' 7-0 center, Steve Stipanovich, between the Twin Towers known as 6-10 Greg Stokes and 6-11 Michael Payne. Iowa then took Villanova to the wire before bowing out. Yes, the Hawks deserved to be there and with an adjustment here and there in the lineup by new coach George Raveling, Iowa will be going for its sixth straight 20-win season. Raveling has a dream job. He will find the Iowa fans to be knowledgeable and as zealous as those in the ACC. The arrival of Raveling means that both the head coach of the 1984 U.S. Olympic basketball team (Indiana's Bob Knight) and his assistant (Raveling) will be in the same league. Stokes is making excellent progress. He ranked second in the Big Ten in blocked shots, 10th in scoring and fifth in rebounding. Stokes played on the U.S. team in the Pan-American Games. If Raveling moves 6-2 Steve Carfino to shooting guard, he will have a nice nucleus with Stokes and Payne inside. Get ready. Those Iowa fans will be revved up again.

KENTUCKY

Let's hope this is the season when at long last Sam Bowie will break free from his shackles and return to the wondrous slam-dunking form we all remember before he suffered a small fracture of his left shin bone that has stubbornly refused to heal. When last we saw him he was the second-leading scorer on the 1980 U.S. Olympic team. Bowie has missed two seasons at Kentucky while every method imaginable has been used to try and find a solution to Bowie's balky bone problem. His doctors are optimistic that a bone graft has taken. The limp has disappeared. Bowie is running and jumping and two years in the weight room have made him stronger than ever. He's ready and he has his fingers crossed. The Cats will welcome his return with open arms, especially so when they meet Louisville in November at Rupp Arena in Lexington. The TV rights for this game drew $600,000. It will be the first meeting between these teams during the regular season since 1922 and it is sure to produce the high drama that Louisville's victory did in the Mideast Regionals when the Cardinals exploded for 18 points in overtime to win, 80-68. To go with the 7-1 Bowie Cats coach Joe B. Hall has 6-11 Melvin Turpin, 6-5 Jim Master, 6-8 Kenny Walker, 6-9 Bret Bearup and 5-11 Dicky Beal. Master played on the U.S. team in the Pan-American Games. UK's two blue-chip recruits are 6-7 Winston Bennett and 6-3 James Blackmon.

the Tigers is Dale Brown, supersalesman, who still has only one goal in mind—reaching the heights. When Brown goes for it, he goes. He attempted to scale the Matterhorn in Switzerland during the summer of 1982. This challenge was far more demanding than it had been to reach the Final Four in 1980-81. Brown is no shrinking violet, however, and the way he is stockpiling talent you get the idea that he is again smelling the Final Four. LSU was passed over by the NCAA last season so he packed up his bayou act and headed for the NIT. The Tigers should claw their way back into the NCAA picture this season with four returning regulars in 6-7 Leonard Mitchell, 6-8 Jerry Reynolds, 6-6 John Tudor and 6-2 Johnny Jones. Mitchell averaged 14.8 points and 9.3 rebounds, blocked 30 shots and made 46 steals. Reynolds had 59 steals. Brown got a jolt when he learned that super recruit 6-9 Tom Curry would have to sit out the season because of grades. But his loss may be offset by the return of 6-1 Derrick Taylor, who himself lost a wrestling match with the books last season, and 6-6 Don Redden, redshirted last year due to an injury. Brown's recruiting was outstanding. Besides Curry he landed 6-8 Nikita Wilson, 6-6 Oliver Brown, 6-4 Anthony Wilson and 6-4 Joe Johnson. LSU's Death Dome will again be murder on visiting SEC teams.

Louisville. You live by the sword, you die by the sword. Same thing is true with the press. Louisville died by it in the face of Houston's unrelenting splurge in a semi-final-round game in the Final Four at Albuquerque. It was slam-bam basketball at its best as the Coogs pounded the stuffing out of the Cardinals in the second half with a 21-1 explosion that in five-and-a-half minutes wiped out a 57-49 Louisville lead. The comeback was not only spectacular—complete with a Phi Slamma Jamma dunk show by Houston—it was as brutally effective a surge as there ever has been in a Final Four game. Backboards at either end were war zones. There were 18 slam-dunks and 16 blocked shots in the game. The Coogs had 14 of the slams, 10 in the second half en route to a 94-81 victory, and it put an end to a 32-4 season that was the second best in the history of U of L hoops. It included that storybook win in overtime that ousted Kentucky in the Midcoat Regional. In the bluegrass state you could find the thoroughbreds at The Ville, not UK, at least for 1982-83. And what will 1983-84 bring? Another excellent team for Denny Crum, whose record is 295-78 in 12 seasons at U of L. He has taken five teams to the Final Four. Returning regulars are 6-5 Milt Wagner, 6-3 Lancaster Gordon and 6-8 Charles Jones. Billy Thompson (6-8) and Manuel Forrest (6-7) probably will replace the departed McCray brothers, Rodney and Scooter.

Maryland. This is the type of team that Lefty Driesell prefers. It has muscle and sinew up front in 6-8 Adrian Branch, 6-9 Ben Coleman, 6-8 Len Bias, 6-6 Herman Veal and 6-9 Mark Fothergill. It can wham and bam under the hoop with the best of them in the ACC, and if Lefty is to win the conference championship this season it most likely will be won by his enforcers. When Lefty strikes that characteristic pose with arms upraised, he will be hollering "boards! boards!" to his troops. With the possible exception of North Carolina, the ACC will not be a league dominated this season by robust front lines. That is a departure from the past. What Lefty sees as an immediate need is for Coleman to assert himself at center. If that happens, Lefty could consider moving Branch to the backline, giving the Terrapins many more options. Lefty's good teams have always featured one player who carried them through the tough situations, someone they could turn to and who would deliver. Branch did it when he was a freshman. Coleman was the one the Terps looked to last season. Another need for Lefty is a floor general. Jeff Adkins played the point last season, though his natural position is the No. 2 guard. Steve Rivers and Jeff Baxter figure on the backline, too. Incoming frosh Keith Gatlin (6-5) and Terry Long (6-8) are highly regarded. If the mix is good, Lefty will be there. He has the players. Say amen, somebody.

Memphis State. Hardly a coach lives who would not trade places with Dana Kirk, a man who came down out of the West Virginia mountains to captivate with his charm the riverboat city of Memphis. To begin with, Kirk has his entire starting cast back from a team that lost by only seven points to mighty Houston in the Midwest Regional. One of those five players is 6-10 Keith Lee, who turned down a lucrative opportunity to leave school for the NBA. Lee will be ready to again terrorize the Metro Conference and outsiders who dare to challenge the Tigers as he did last season when Memphis won 17 of its first 18 games. The Tigers finished 23-8, thanks in large part to 6-9 Derrick Phillips. Kirk is lucky to have one possessed of as much mental toughness as is Phillips. As a freshman in 1979, Phillips suffered a stress fracture in the tarsal navicular bone of his right foot. The break mysteriously refused to heal and he would miss two seasons before his dogged determination paid off in 1982-83. Two of his assignments were Georgetown's Pat Ewing and Houston's Akeem Abdul-Olaajuwon. Phillips out-rebounded Ewing 11-9. After what he has been through, Phillips is ready to take on the world. He could get his chance in Seattle, site of the 1983-84 Final Four. Says Kirk: "It's very conceivable that we could win it all."

MICHIGAN STATE

Scott Skiles is putting the magic back in the Spartans with his nifty passes and his silky shooting. They are reminders of an era past in Jenison Field House when Earvin Johnson was the main man and Michigan State tap-danced to the national title in 1978-79 with a memorable victory in the final over Indiana State and Larry Bird. The peppery, 6-1 Skiles has been standing tall from the time that he took tiny Plymouth, Indiana, to the state high school hoops championship. As a freshman at Michigan State last season he got the ball inside to 7-0 Kevin Willis and to 6-8 Ben Tower and he brought out the best in 6-2 Sam Vincent. Skiles' 146 assists, the third-highest total in school history behind Magic Johnson's 222 in 1977-78 and 269 in 1978-79, and Skiles' 12.5 scoring average convinced many he was the Big Ten's No. 1 frosh. The Spartans shared sixth in the conference and lost in the second round of the NIT to eventual champ Fresno State. Skiles triggered a late run for the Spartans in the Big Ten after he hit Ohio State for 35 points in a triple-overtime win. The hot Skiles then averaged 23 points in subsequent victories over Indiana, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Northwestern. With Willis, Tower, Vincent, 6-5 Patrick Ford, 6-8 Larry Polec and 6-8 transfer Ken Johnson, the Spartans will be very good. With Skiles in the lineup, they can go as far as they want to go.

NORTH CAROLINA

tional championship in the state of North Carolina. What Smith will do now is pick up the pieces and begin anew the job that was interrupted. And it just might be that the Tar Heels will give the national championship a North Carolina flavor for a third straight season, considering the players that Smith has returning and the fact that the Heels' recruiting harvested the best trio of high school prospects in the country. Smith was pleased when 6-9 Sam Perkins, a spidery southpaw, and 6-6 Michael Jordan, arguably the nation's premier player, told him they would not throw their hats into the NBA draft. Smith was more than pleased when Jordan and Perkins were chosen for the U.S. team in the Pan-American Games. To begin the 1983-84 season, Smith will have three starters from the team that won the 1981-82 national title in Perkins, Jordan and 6-8 Matt Doherty. Add to these some building blocks in 6-11 Brad Daugherty, 6-4 Curtis Hunter and 6-4 Buzz Peterson all of whom played a lot last season, and it's easy to see why Smith may qualify for a journeyman's card in carpentry. His incoming frosh are 6-9 Dave Popson, 6-3 Kenny Smith and 6-10 Joe Wolf.

Jim Master of Kentucky ranks as a top shooting guard.

OREGON STATE. After 32 years on the bench, poker-faced Ralph Miller knows whereof he speaks. Here is a man who was playing basketball at Kansas in the late 1930s when Phog Allen already was experimenting with 12-foot baskets. Miller has been the Big Ten Coach of the Year (at Iowa), Missouri Valley Coach of the Year (at Wichita State), and National Coach of the Year (at Oregon State). In all those years he has formulated his own ideas about the game he coaches. He would banish the slam-dunk. "Idiot's delight," Miller calls it. "What's so great about a dunk? It comes from one inch. If you put the baskets at 12 feet and someone dunks, now I'll applaud that." He would applaud also a return to the top of the Pacific-10 by his Orange Express this season, and if he can get some inside problems solved, UCLA will have its hands full in the conference race with the Beavers. To fit the glass slipper, Oregon State needs a defensively tougher Steve Woodside to dominate the center spot so 6-8 Charlie Sutton, a great player, can move back to a wing with 6-8 A.C. Green at the other wing. The Beavers shot so poorly outside last season that all they saw were zone defenses. Dean Deraah, who missed last season because of knee surgery, can pop from the perimeter. Daryl Flowers will occupy one of the guard positions. Is this the season that Miller finally will reach the Final Four?

TENNESSEE-CHATTANOOGA. When the crowds begin stomping and screaming at the Roundhouse, it usually is Willie White and Stanford Strickland who bring the Moe fans to a fever pitch. Talk about a gift-wrapped package. These two came to UTC together four years ago and have been great contributors to three Southern Conference titles and have helped put the Mocs into the national consciousness as a legitimate power. Where White is, Strickland won't be far behind. They room together, eat together, dream together and on the floor they have been double trouble for UTC foes. The 6-3 White was the conference's most valuable player two seasons ago and even though he averaged 18.4 points, shot 52 percent and had 74 assists last season he had to relinquish his MVP status. White wants it back this season. The 6-6 Strickland, who averaged 12.5 points and 5.5 rebounds, wants to help White get it back and at the same time grab a fourth league championship for the Mocs. Two other starters, 6-6 Gerald Wilkins—the younger brother of Dominique—and 6-1 Chris McCray return. UTC knows the euphoria of a national championship, having won the Division II title in 1977. The Mocs have something more to spur them on this season. It is the long shadow of a 30-18 halftime lead over Maryland in the Midwest Regional that melted into a 52-51 defeat. Somebody will pay for that.

UCLA. As usual, there is a ton of talent in Westwood. Whether the Bruins can repeat as Pacific-10 champions will depend on how well coach Larry Farmer can redefine the chemistry of his team. Forward Kenny Fields, who has an NBA body and the skills to match it, decided to remain in school rather than make himself eligible for the NBA draft. Said Farmer of Fields' decision: "I'm very excited." To go with the 6-7 Fields, Farmer has 7-0 Stuart Gray, 6-1 Montel Hatcher, 6-2 Ralph Jackson, 6-8 Gary Maloneon, 6-5 Nigel Miguel and 6-10 Brad Wright. Given the Bruin tradition in the NCAAs (60-17 record and 10 national championships), it was a shocking finale to the 1982-83 season for the Bruins when they dropped their first game of the tournament to Utah, a team that had the worst record

Right now, the Army National Guard is looking for men and women who want to be officers.

It's a tough, challenging job. One of the most important jobs in America. And you'll find the rewards match the challenge.

For instance, in the Army Guard, you'll gain valuable management and leadership skills you may use in your civilian career. You'll earn an excellent part-time income and be entitled to limited space available air travel, PX privileges, life insurance, a fully paid retirement plan, and lots more.

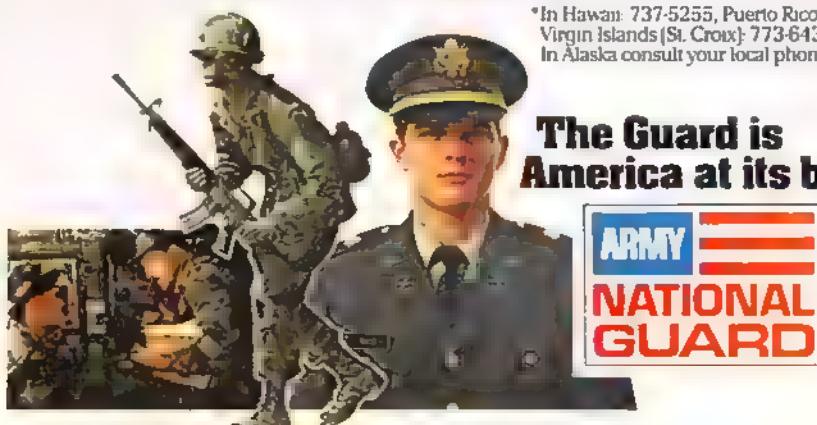

You'll be serving close to home, helping people in your community and state when natural disasters or other emergencies arise. And, after your initial training, it takes just two days a month and two weeks annual training each year to serve, so you'll have time for your family, friends, school or job.

If you have previous experience as an Army officer, you can probably join the Army Guard as an officer. If not, and you qualify, you can get a commission through an Officer Candidate Course, or a direct appointment based on your unique civilian job experience.

To get the total picture on opportunities for officers in the Army National Guard, contact your local Army Guard recruiter, or call toll-free 800-638-7600.*

(16-13) of the 52 selected to play in the post-season event. Of the Utes' Cinderella role, Coach Jerry Pumm said after the game: "We're getting prettier. We were ugly coming in." The Bruins were ineligible for the tournament in 1981-82 because they were on NCAA probation. So the loss to Utah makes Farmer 0-for-the-tournament. Look for firmer Farmer discipline and, accordingly, a 1-CLA turnaround.

UTEP In 1966 a lightning-quick team (Texas Western) and its coach (Don Haskins) came out of the Southwest and won the national championship at College Park, Md., with a stunning win over Kentucky, which was top-ranked in all the land. Texas-Western was to become UTEP and Haskins was to remain a bear in his intense approach on the bench. His teams will knock your socks off defensively. They have led the nation in defense three times, been the runner-up twice and were No. 8 last season. The Miners lost 6-6 Fred Reynolds and 6-4 Juden Smith early because of injuries last season but regrouped and tied for the WAC title. Haskins was stung by the difference at the free throw line (35-12) in a loss at Fresno State in the NIT, but he learned a long time ago that what goes around comes around. He fell asleep during a chalk talk given by his college coach, Henry Iba, at Oklahoma State. Iba woke him up by bouncing an eraser off his head and The Bear has been paying attention since. Nobody slips much past street-smart Haskins now. He is blessed with so much talent for 1983-84 (11 superb players in all) that he might have difficulty in keeping track of them on the bench. He'll have Smith, 6-10 Dave Feul, 6-4 Kent Lockhart, 6-0 Lester Goodwin, 6-6 Kevin Hamilton, 6-7 Paul Cunningham (37 steals and 37 blocks), four redshirts who are now eligible and (Hernell Deep) Jackson, who has his grades up to snuff. This is a team to watch.

VILLANOVA In the Kansas City airport the morning after Akeem Abdul-Olajuwon and Houston had dismantled his Villanova team in the Midwest Regional, 89-71, Wildcats Coach Rollie Massimino ate a stand-up breakfast in a coffee shop. His orange juice tasted lousy. If Rollie had been in a restaurant in South Philly, he would have given his guests a three-hour explanation of how it was that Akeem bamboozled the best-laid plans that the Villanova staff had for snaring the Coogs in a trap. That's old stuff now. Rollie will have to proceed in the Big East minus his dancing bear, John Pinone, who was the heart and soul of the Cats. He had a hand in 91 wins in four seasons and that's no small feat for any team in the Big East, the brainchild of Providence's Dave Gavitt. This league has elbowed its way alongside the elite (i.e., Big Ten and ACC). Massimino is of old world charisma. His dad was an Italian immigrant and a New Jersey shoemaker. His players show up at his home at 11 p.m. for pasta and, in turn, he runs a mandatory study hall. Not everybody can play for him. "If you don't do it like I want it done, you're history," he says. He'll begin a new era with 6-9 Ed Pinckney, 6-7 Harold Pressley, 6-6 Dwayne McClain, 6-0 Gary McLain and a couple of giant sophs, 7-0 Chuck Everson and 6-11 Wyatt Maker. Rollie isn't as loud as he once was. No more bulging, red-faced tantrums. He is killing the opposition quietly now.

Pentax Binoculars. So Jim Wilson can see... the quarterback and his son the receiver, at once.

Instead of catching just parts of the action, Jim can keep track of the entire game at once with his Pentax 8x40 Gridiron binoculars. They give you a full field of vision — 499 feet at 1000 yards. So you spend time watching, not readjusting. And, to get you closer to the action, they're the most powerful wide angle binoculars Pentax makes.

You get coated lenses, and the same kind of craftsmanship in Pentax binoculars as you get in our cameras. And we offer a booklet to help — CHOOSING THE RIGHT PENTAX BINOCULARS FOR SPECTATOR SPORTS. ## Experience Mazda RX-7. The one high-performance sports car that is not reserved for a privileged few.

The Mazda RX-7 experience. It is a sports car enthusiast's dream made real.

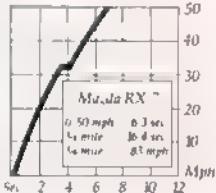

It is a rotary engine that can propel you from zero to 50 in just 6.3 seconds.

It is superb directional control made possible by a finely-tuned suspension system and anti-sway bars fore and aft.

It is a precise recirculating-ball steering gear that keeps you constantly in touch with the road below.

And to make the experience even more enjoyable, the RX-7 is an astonishing value—a sports car enthusiast's dream made affordable.

As you might expect of the best-selling two-seat sports car in America, the RX-7 has exceptional resale value. The Kelley Blue Book, September-October 1982, reports that a 1979 RX-7 S has retained 111.1% of its original sticker price, compared to 79.3% for a 1979 Datsun 280ZX.

If you are partial to the joys of high-performance motoring, all that remains is for you to climb into the RX-7's refined cockpit and head for the open road.

That is where the real RX-7 experience awaits you.

Because its rotors turn constantly in one direction, the Mazda RX-7's 100-horsepower rotary engine is smoother, more efficient, and more powerful for its size than a conventional piston engine.

Law School Dean Harvey Perlman sits in the courtroom of the new Sherman S. Welpton Courthouse. A dedication ceremony for the new facility was held this morning.

New courthouse at UNL Law College is a 'dream come true' for alumnus

By Lynn Hawkins
Office of University
Information

Back in the days when young lawyers, those who could find work at all, were paid in turnip greens, ears of corn and live chickens, Sherman S. Welpton, Jr., set out from the UNL campus with a new girlfriend, a new law diploma, and a dream for success even the Great Depression couldn't destroy.

He went on to become nationally recognized: the sole drafter of the Code of Trial Conduct for the American College of Trial Lawyers, and a drafter of the present code of professional responsibility for the American Bar Association.

He helped build a law firm from 35 to 365 attorneys with offices all over the world. He is the senior partner of Gibson, Dun and Crutcher in Los Angeles.

Dedication Today

This morning his alma mater honored the prominent attorney in a way that will help dreams come true for generations of law students. A new $1.6 million Sherman S. Welpton

Courthouse given to the College of Law today by the University of Nebraska Foundation is "a model for other colleges of law throughout the nation in the training of trial advocacy," said D. B. "Woody" Varner, Chairman of the Foundation's Board of Directors.

For the first time, law students will have a fully-equipped state-of-the-art courtroom for real trials and moot courts where they can gain actual experience by working with the top legal minds in the Midwest. Students, for instance, will be able to watch proceedings of the Nebraska Supreme Court in the new building.

To reach the courtroom, one walks under high curved arches supported by massive gray stone pillars, down wide, somber corridors. The huge, cathedral-ceilinged courtroom is furnished in teakwood and earth-toned rugs and upholstery.

Many Features

Visitors can view actual proceedings through one-way mirrors. An elaborate book-lined judge's chamber is designed to show students what a law office should look like. A jury room doubles as a seminar site.

A clinic where law students represent indigent clients referred by the Legal Aid Society, a resource room, and client interview rooms, are also part of the new building.

Computer rooms connect students to trial experience "as close to real life as possible," says new Law College Dean Harvey S. Perlman. A videodisc display, which looks like a TV screen,

Sherman S. Welpton

The new Sherman S. Welpton Courthouse, named in honor of a UNL alumnus of the Class of 1931, adjoins the College of Law Building on the East Campus. Welpton, who had a hand in planning the building, predicts "Courtrooms like this will be the wave of the future."

is connected to microcomputers in a new system developed by Professor Roger W. Kirst.

The new system has attracted "a tremendous amount of interest" from other law schools, three of which—including Harvard's—are using it as a base on which to build similar instructional programs of their own.

"It doesn't replace professors and it doesn't replace books," Kirst said. The first video program is a simulated bank robbery trial conducted by professional actors in Senior U.S. District Judge Robert Van Pelt's Federal courtroom.

Students interact with the psycho drama by pushing an "objection" button when they think the prosecutor has stepped out of line. The student then types the reason for objection into the computer, which acts like a judge. If the objection is sustained, the video disc automatically rotates so that the offending piece of evidence or prosecution argument isn't seen.

Trial Courtroom

UNL is the only law school in the country that has such an instructional setup, Perlman says.

The main advantage of the new courthouse, however, will be that the Law School will have a room specifically designed as a trial courtroom, with a permanent judge's bench, according to Perlman.

"Courtrooms like this will be the wave of the future," predicts Welpton, who had a hand in the building's planning. "By giving our students a chance to see and follow up actual cases, we can turn out new lawyers who know what real trials are all about."

When he graduated in 1931, law students often had to travel miles to see real trials, Welpton said. His first trial experience was in Omaha, where he worked in a small law firm. He's been in California since 1941.

Helps Alma Mater

"When I got to the point I had enough money to take care of my family and a little bit extra, Woody Varner gave me the opportunity to help my alma mater a little bit," Welpton modestly explains.

In 1950, he became one of the founders of the Roscoe Pound Fellowship at UNL. He has raised millions of dollars for the College of Law. His own gift this year is $50,000.

He came back to visit the campus today with that girlfriend from his student days (Dorothy Ferber, Class of '28) now his wife of 52 years. Their three children and eight grandchildren were also present for the dedication of the new courthouse, which adjoins the College of Law on the East Campus.

Distinguished Professor

Along with the building, "which creates a teaching atmosphere of the highest caliber," according to Varner, the Foundation also has established an endowed distinguished professorship of law in Welpton's name.

Please place litter in containers outside Memorial Stadium on your way home from the game.

Valentino's

TWO NEBRASKA LEGENDS

Nebraska can boast of two legends:
 Big Red and Valentino's

Year after year, the cornhuskers prove their superiority on the football field.

And year after year, fans enjoy Valentino's famous pizza, pasta and salads. After the excitement of Big Red in action, enjoy another legend.
